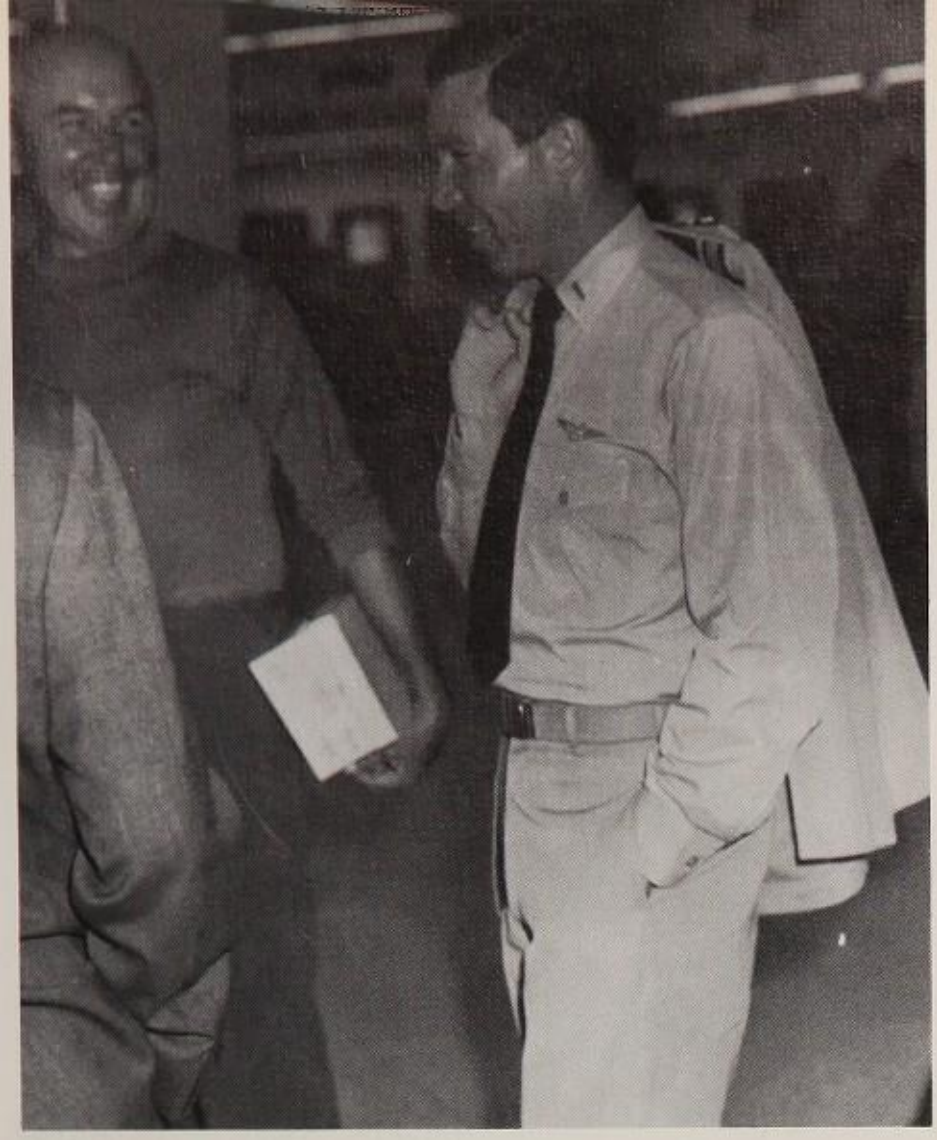
Southwest Miami Senior High School



This book is dedicated to the United States of America, and therefore to every man, woman and child in the country. Even more important, it is dedicated to those citizens who have fought, are now fighting, and will continue to fight to defend our country. It is dedicated to the memory of those valorous young men of Southwest Miami High School who have given their lives in the service of their country's welfare.

Our nation is built on a belief in the basic rights and freedom of humanity. We will always be called upon to defend that belief whether in the voting booth or on a battlefield like those of Vietnam or in the classrooms of Southwest High School. In order "that those honored dead shall not have died in vain," let us of Southwest Miami High School go forth with a renewed sense of responsibility to our country's future.

Superlatives . . . the Best of the Best

Sixteen Senior students recognized for outstanding characteristics such as talent, and personality were selected as Senior Superlatives. The elections for this honor were conducted in the Senior homerooms.

Although the educational crisis disrupted normal activities, the Seniors were able to have the Superlative Assembly on Dress Up Day. Paul Faulkner announced the categories while the orchestra accompanied each winners' promenade to the stage with a different composition.

Aquilla Court Went to the War Zone

Southwest's 1968 Aquila Court flew to Viet Nam to entertain the troops . . . at least in spirit.

To get a "real man's" opinion, the Aquila staff asked the 1st Battalion, 22nd Infantry to judge the beauties of Southwest.

After many candid comments penciled on the back and a dirty finger print or two from each battalion member, the pictures returned with the battalion's choice of seven of the loveliest girls at Southwest.

Debbie Ricci denied the evidence.

Southwest's award winning drama department once again produced two outstanding and memorable performances. The two plays were Night of January 16th, starring Ronnie Raymond, Bob Abramson, and Holly Gasper, was shown to an enthusiastic audience early in the first semester. The second semester spectacular, My Fair Lady, was rescheduled for later in the year as a result of the education crisis, and proved to be a great success also.

In My Fair Lady, a convincing Eliza Doolittle, Ronnie Raymond, opened the play with a loud scream. Later, Eliza, Henry Higgins, played on respective nights by Alan Balsam and Jeff Evans, and Colonel Pickering, performed by Bruce Ross and Bob Abramson, were seen cavorating across the stage singing.

James Randolph, respected and loved by his students produced both of the very enjoyable plays, winning the admiration of both students and faculty members.

Bob Abramson pleaded for the prosecution.

Charles Simmons took the oath.

Cheer as the Winners Go By

Southwest Cheerleaders were on the move. They made new jumpers and corduroy skirts for the Pep Rallies and basketball games. New cheers were originated by the able squad such as Eagle Mombo and Shoo-be-doo-bop. To boost spirit, the cheerleaders sold jinx dolls and made signs and letters for football players. They also held a breakfast for the football players after the Miami High game. Miss Shropshire and Miss Stenger, sponsors, went with the girls on an overnight trip to the Key West football game.

The squad, headed by Captain Pam Ibanez and Co-captain Dottie Hamblin, cheered at track and baseball events in '68, as well as the usual football and basketball activities. Still on the move in February, the girls chose their sweetheart and announced him at the Varsity Club Sweetheart Dance.

Band Ranked Superior in '68

Southwest's 1967-68 Royal Lancer Band marched in the Orange Bowl Parade and the Cherry Blossom Parade in Washington, D.C. They also played in the half-time show at the Orange Bowl and the Super Bowl. Southwest's band was one of the few bands to appear on national T.V. four times and was seen by 200,000,000 viewers.

The Band stepped in time with Drum Majors Chuck Reynolds and Chuck Getter, under the direction of band captain Mike Goldberg. The spirit of the student body was represented by Royal Lancer Girl, Judy McClanahan at each half time show. Judy marched with the band and carried a bouquet of flowers which she presented to the wife of the opposing team's band director after the half time show.

Mike Goldberg, band captain, played trumpet.

Mr. Baker was band director for his third year.

Band members seemed to enjoy munching ice after hot halftime show for the Miami Dolphins.

Judy McClanahan—Flower Girl.

Orchestra Performed Messiah

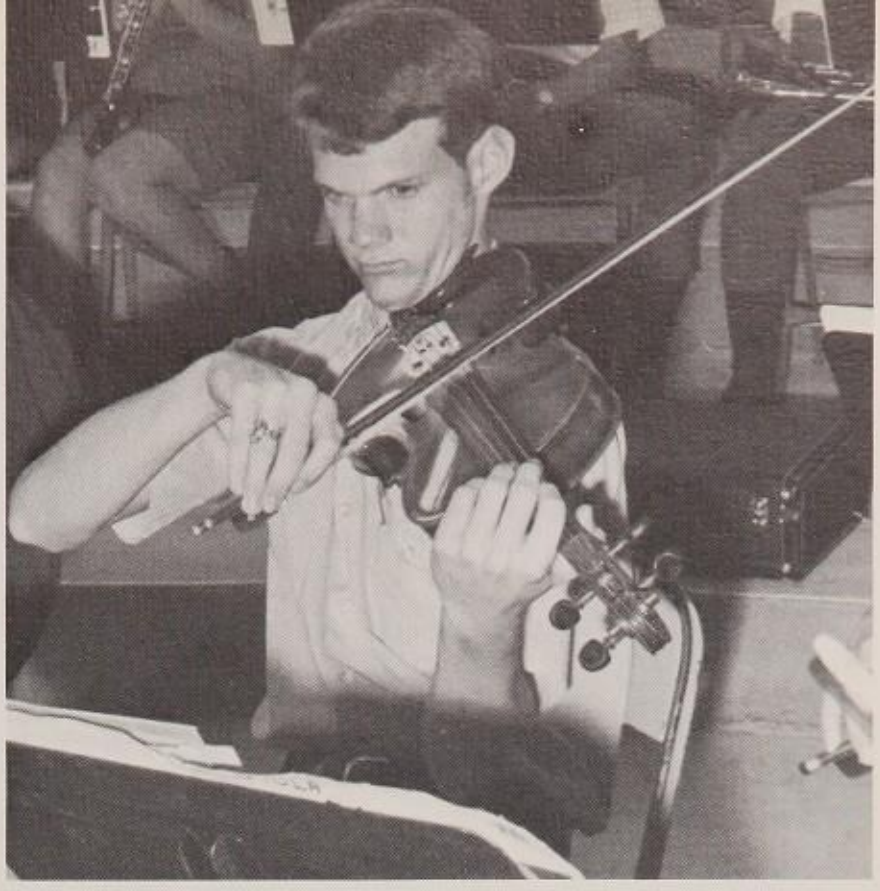
My Fair Lady and Coral Gables High's Carousel were among the highlights of the 1967-68 orchestra's program. The orchestra performed The Messiah at the First Methodist Church and Viscaya and was assisted by the concert choruses of Palmetto, Coral Gables, and Southwest Miami High.

On the orchestra's busy schedule was a concert at Fort Myers for the advancement of music education in the schools. For the first time, an opera, Amahl and The Night Visitors was performed by the orchestra. They also provided the background music at the Chez Nous Fashion Show.

And finally, sponsored a contest for the best musical composition by a University of Miami student studying composition.

Orchestra played at Viscaya.

Reed section posed for picture.



Serious thought was given to playing the violin.

Mr. Bobo, director, listened intently as student practiced.

It took a lot of air to blow a baritone.

String section did outstanding job at Viscaya.

Remarkable talent was present in the string section.

The bass seemed to put some orchestra members in a trance.

Chorus Sang for Community

Concert Chorus started the year by performing at the Orchestra Concert and a student assembly. At Christmas time the chorus got together with the chorus from Coral Gables and Palmetto High and presented the Messiah at Viscaya.

During the spring the chorus gave a concert and helped with the musical aspect of My Fair Lady. They also made appearances at the Easter Sunrise Service at Bayfront Park Bandshell and the Everglades Hotel where they provided the background music for a professional dance group. Concert Chorus ended the year by performing at the graduation.

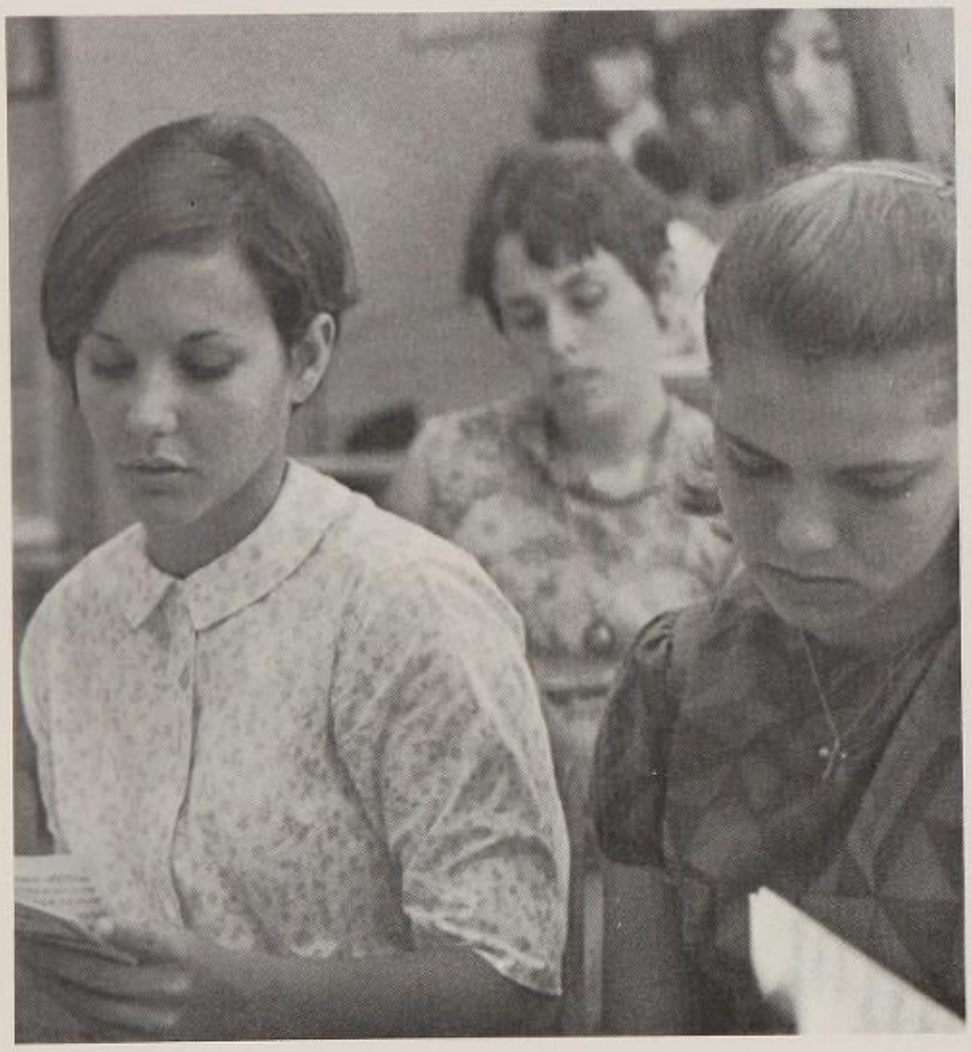
Girls Chorus Got New Outfits

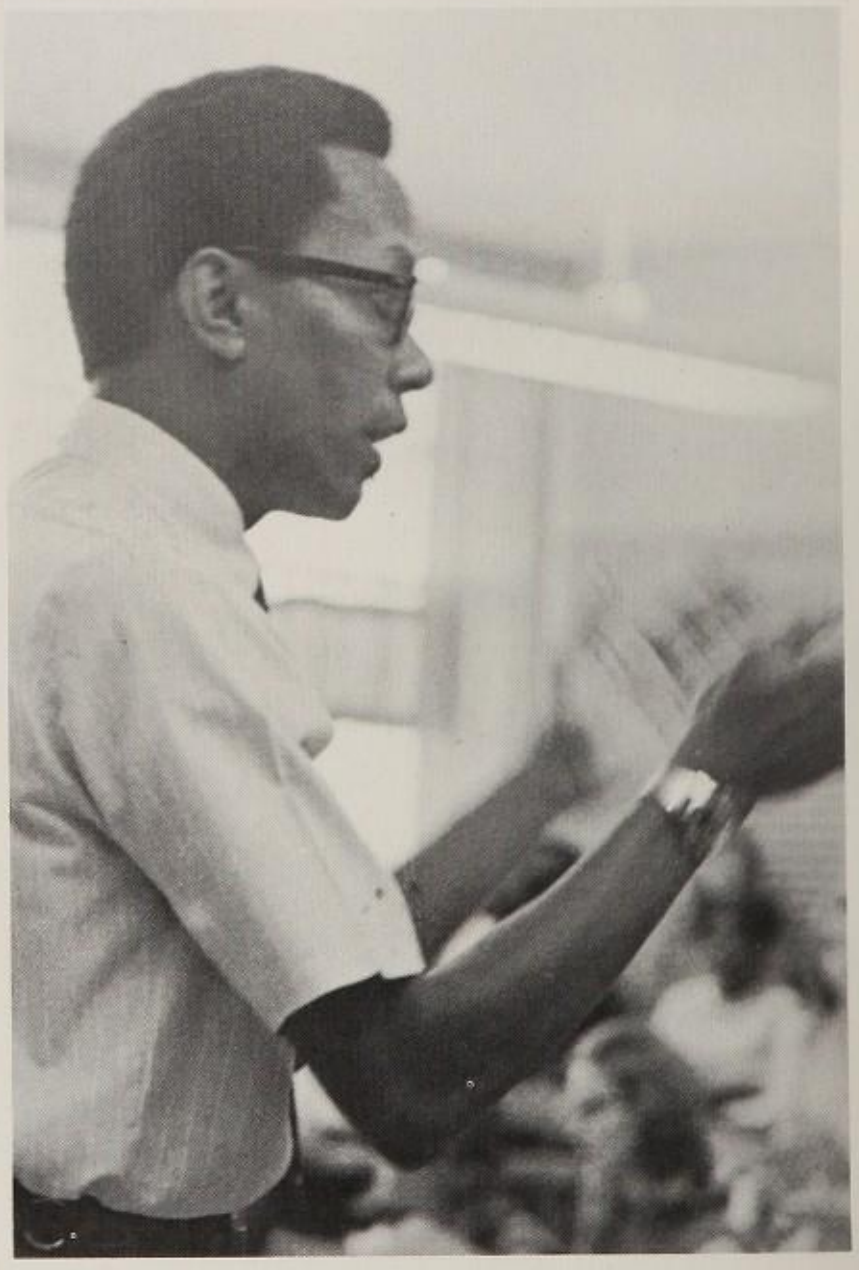
President Eileen Nolan and vice-president Pat Wikle lead the girls chorus to greater heights. With help from Connie Johnson and Carmen Sierralta, Mr. Johnson molded the chorus into a single voice.

The girls performed at the U. of Miami, at near-by churches, and at the South Miami Hebrew Center. They were also at the Christmas Assembly and the Dade Music Festival. The feeder high schools hosted the chorus at each of their respective schools and many community centers asked for their services.

Long, exacting practice sessions were necessary.

Sight reading proved more difficult than expected.

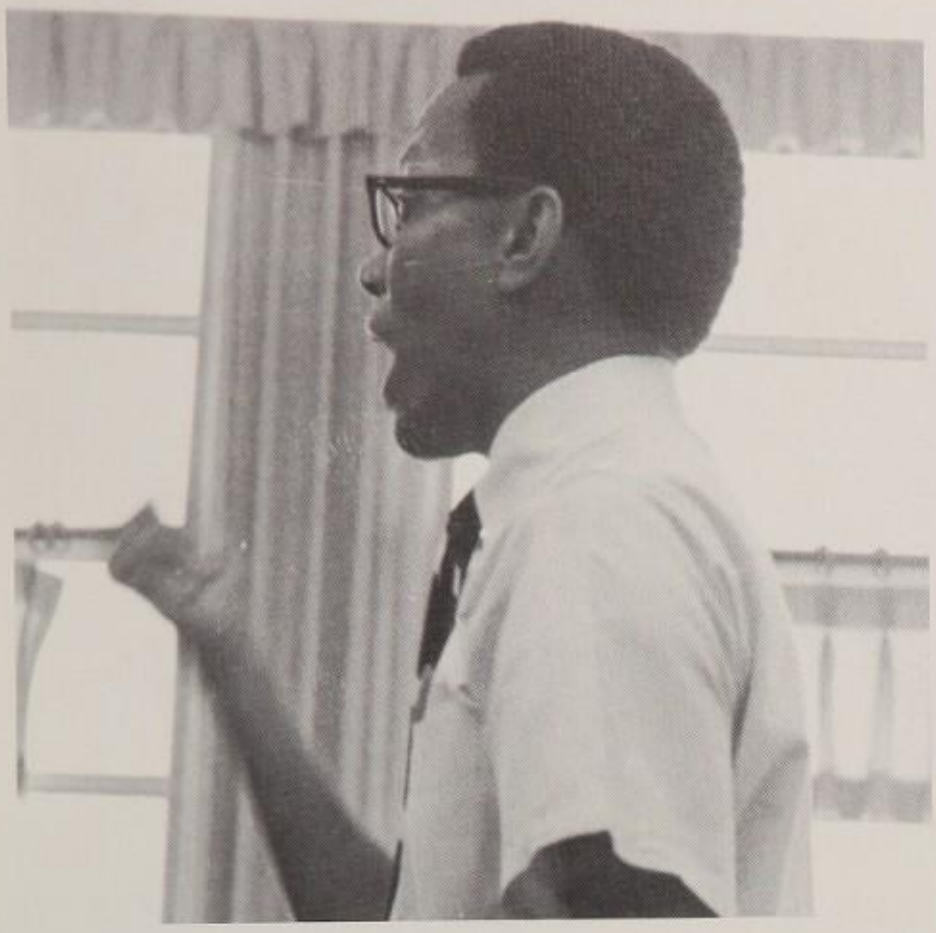




Mr. Johnson asked for more volume.

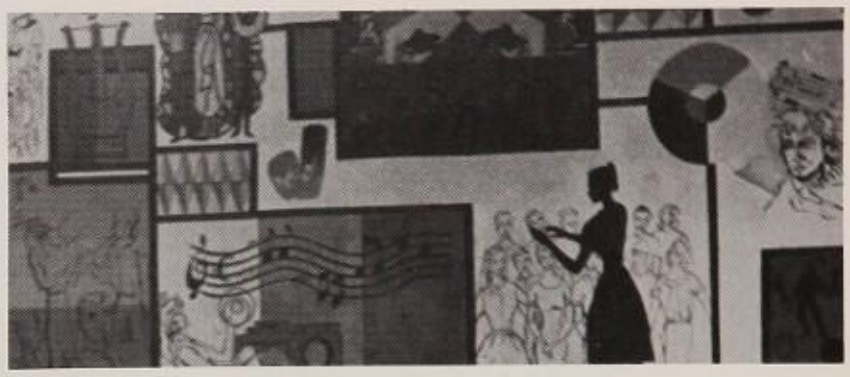
Girls Chorus sang at assemblies.

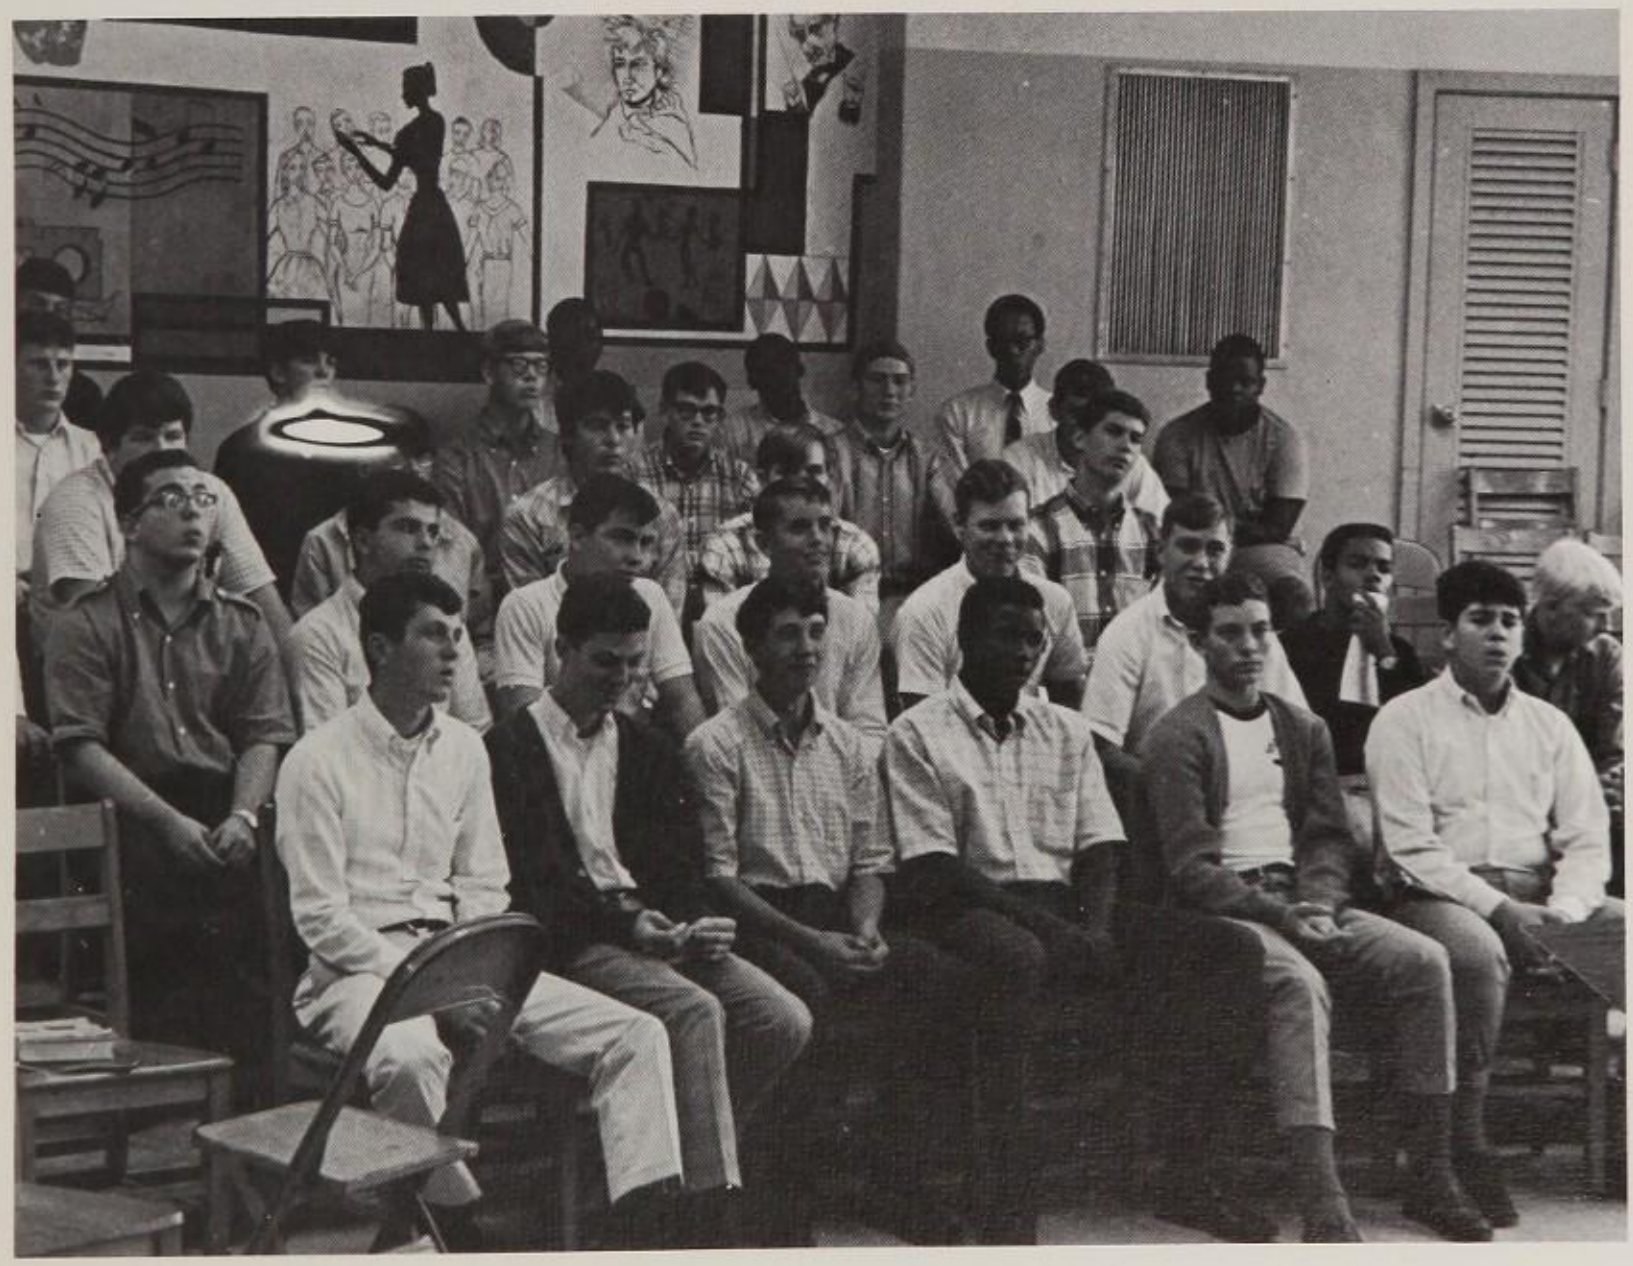
Boys Chorus Sang at My Fair Lady



Realizing that strict attention, practice and patience are necessities for an outstanding chorus, Mr. Johnson demanded more volume.

Something not to be forgotten soon by most students was the unusal mural in the chorus room.





Happiness to the boys chorus apparently was not our Aquila photographers.

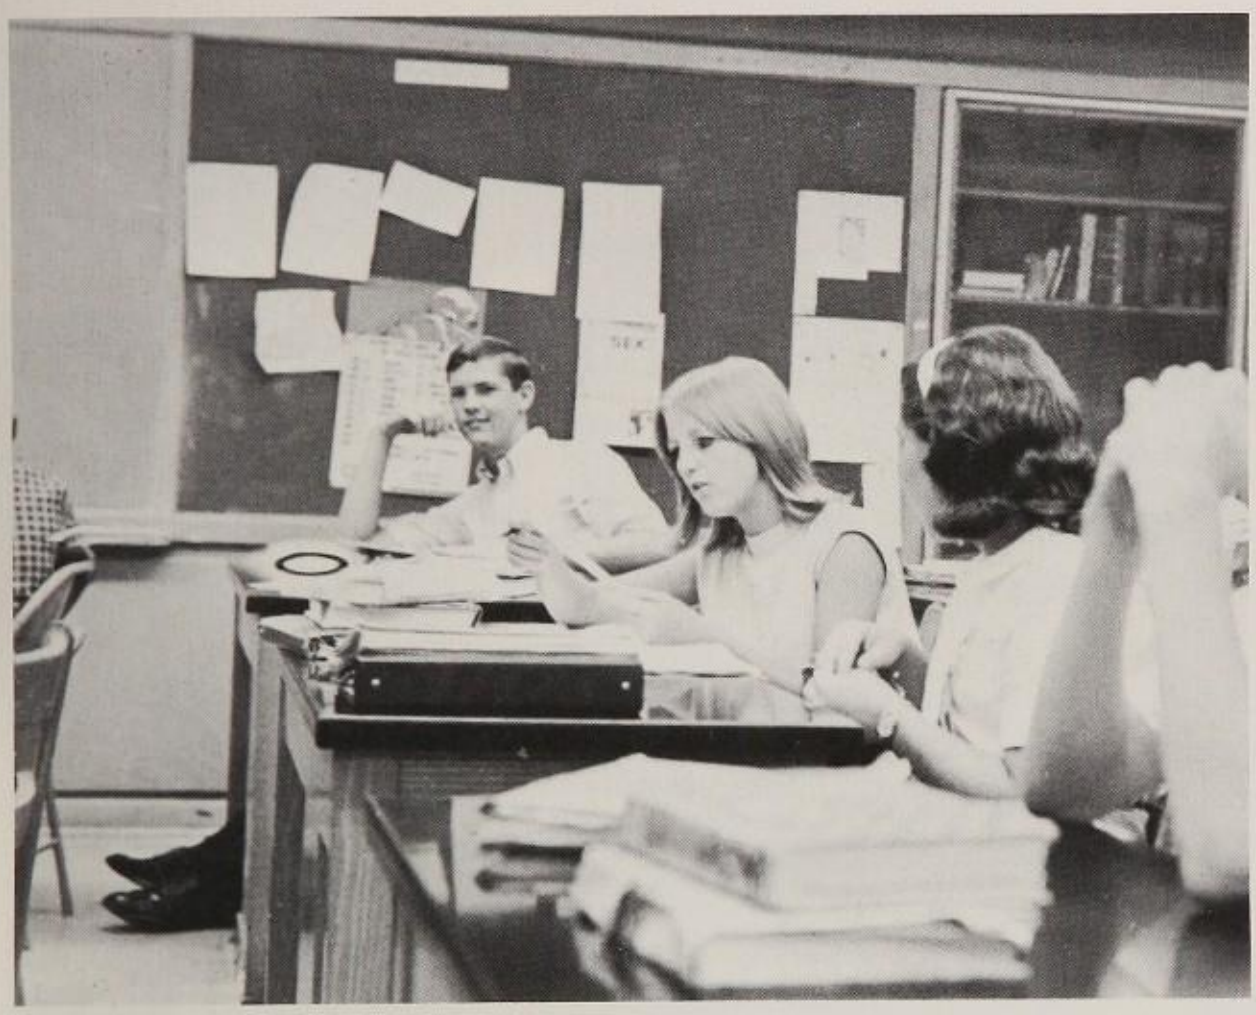
DE Helped Find Jobs

Students listened intensely.

Cooperative distributive education was a program of instruction designed to prepare students for initial entry jobs in the areas of marketing such as storing, transporting, financing, risk bearing, wholesaling, retailing, and servicing. Distributive education was concerned with marketing occupations and not with industrial of office occupations.

Essentially, the cooperative plan of vocational instruction used the work situation as a "School Laboratory" in which occupational competincies were developed through supervised occupational experiences while related instruction was given in school.

The officers of the Southwest Chapter of Distributive Education were Jeffrey Marks, President; Alan Webb, Vice President; Margaret McGuire, Secretary, and Pat Stewart, Treasurer.



Students had mixed emotions about business problems.

Students read over notes.

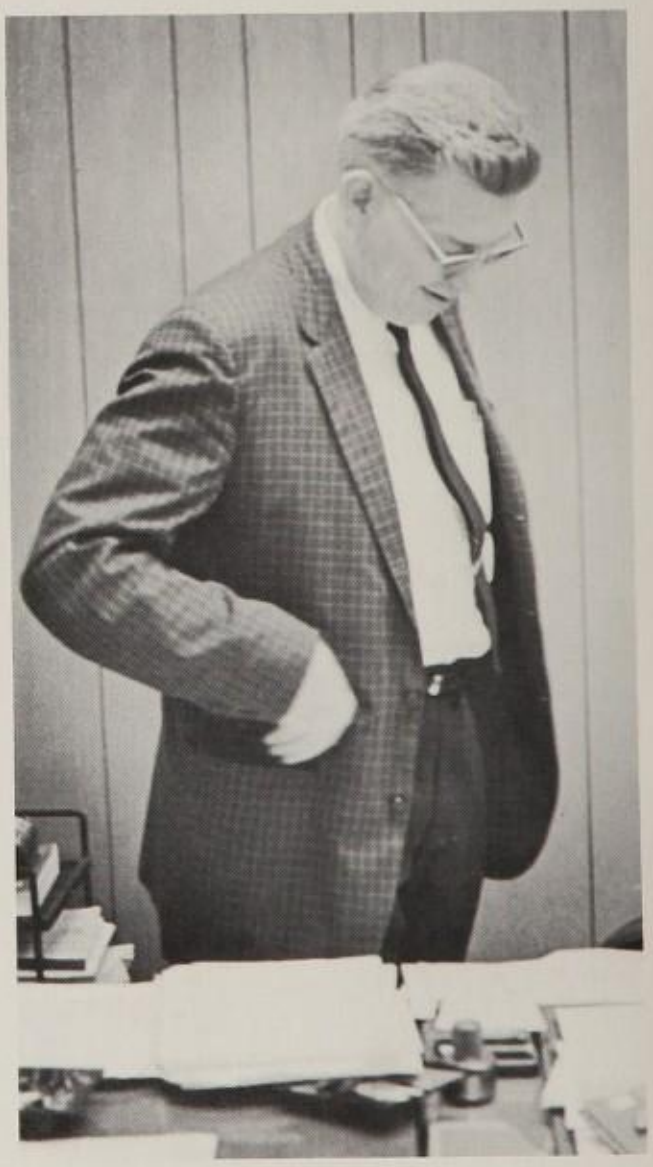
A life-time member of the CTA, FEA, and NEA, Mr. Allsworth was president of the Dade County Schools Administrators Association during 1966-67 and vice-president during 1967-68. He was also vice-president of the CTA and on the FEA Board for six years.

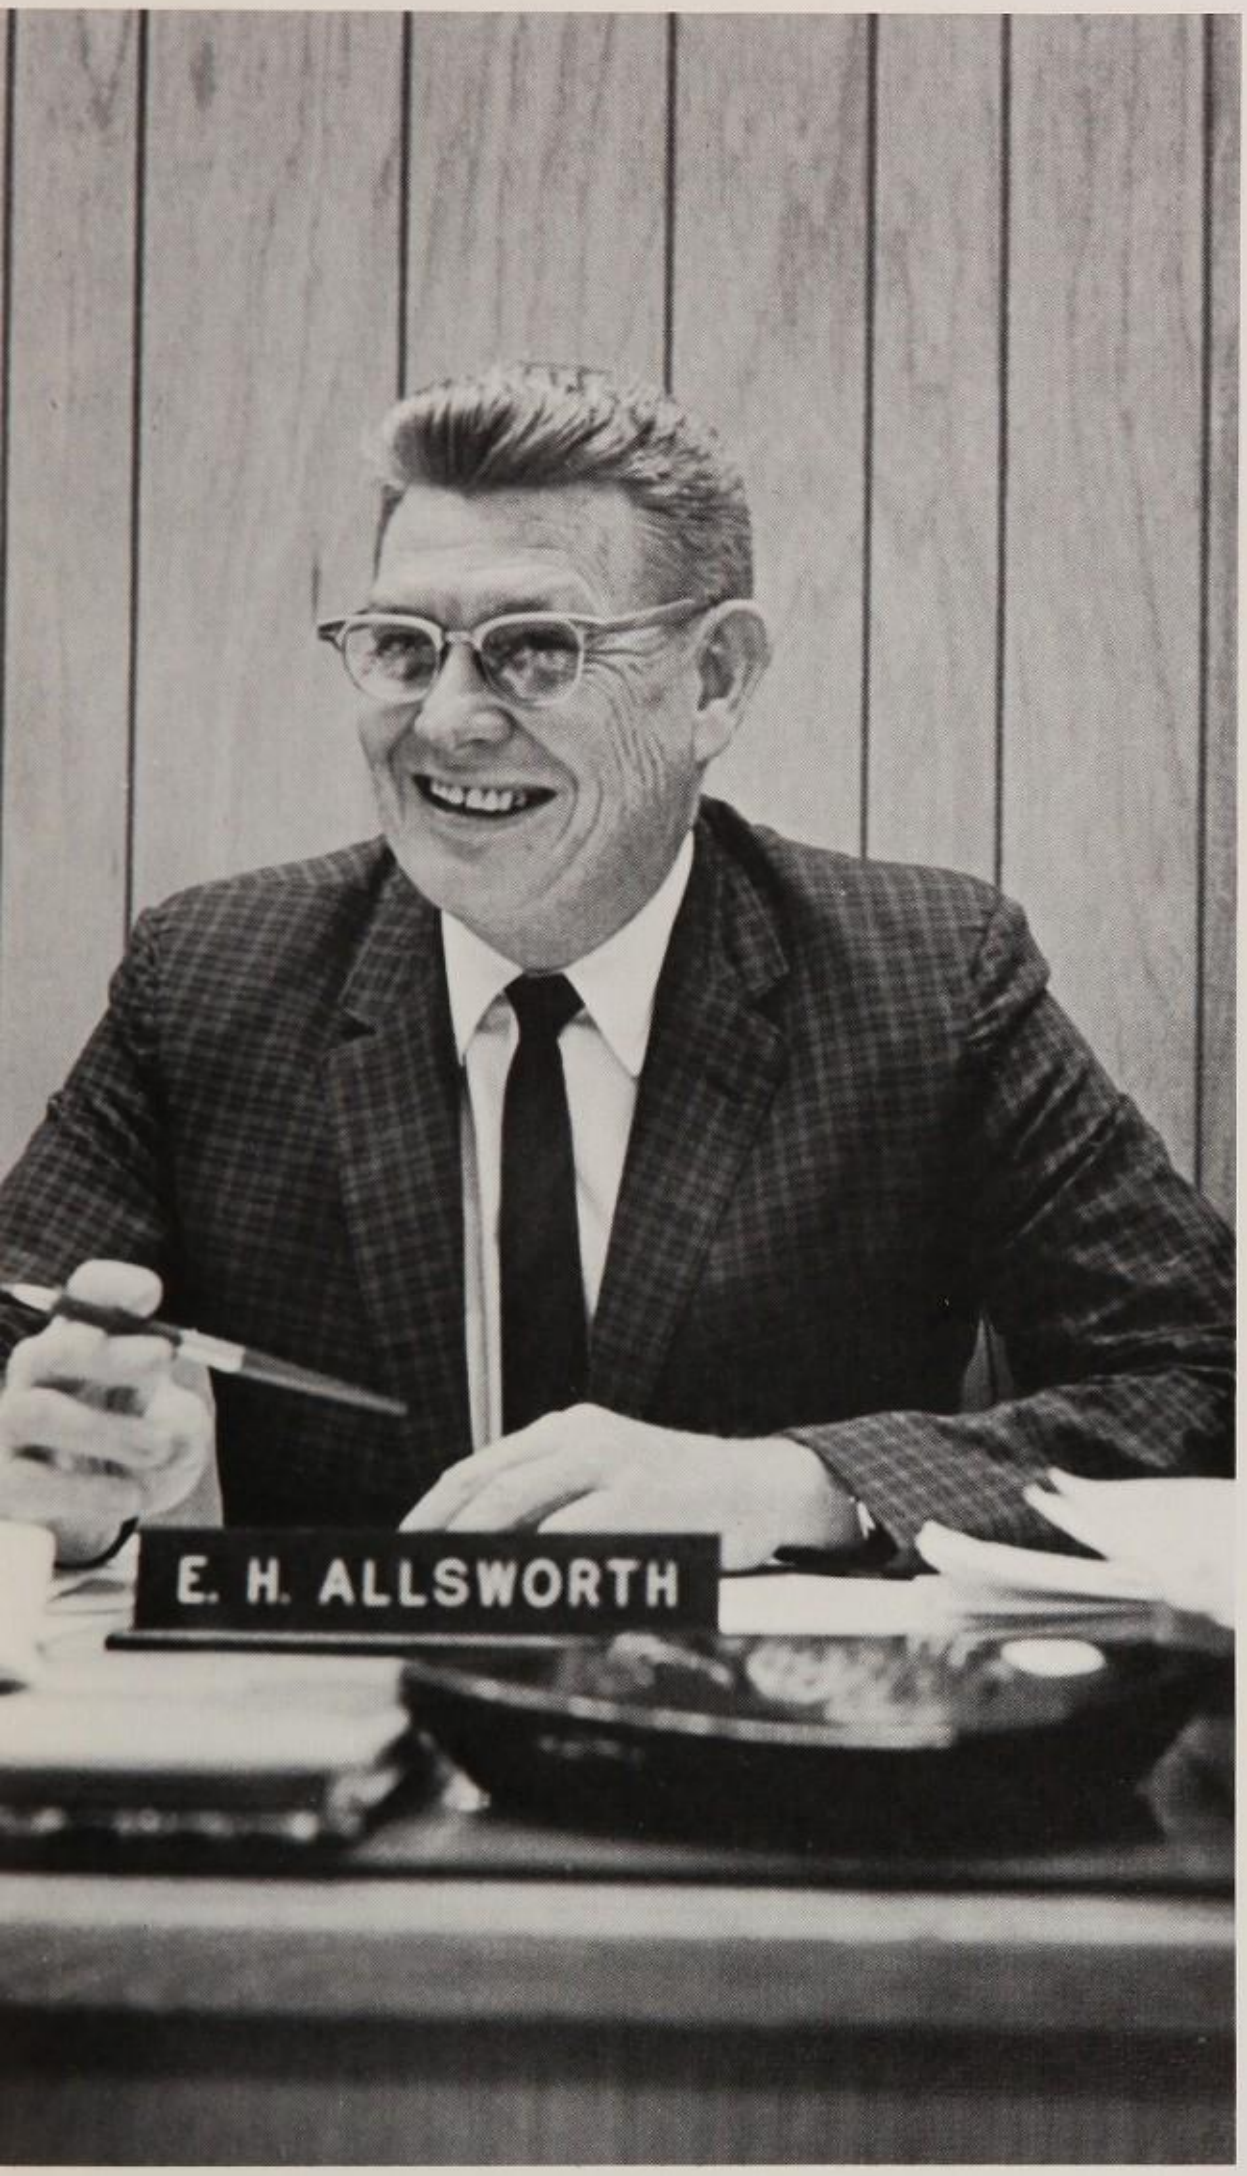
Mr. Allsworth did his under-graduate work at the University of Arizona and graduate work at the University of Miami.

A principal's activities required many discussions with his secretary.

Mr. Allsworth offered his assistance to Robert Polanco.



Mr. Allsworth arrived early to begin a new day.

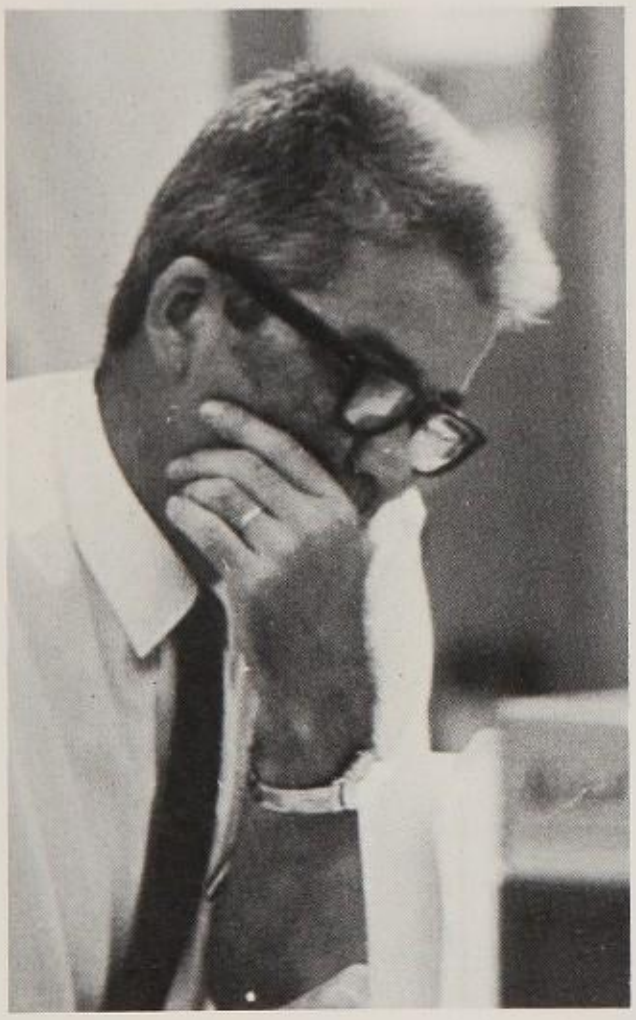


Mr. Allsworth always had a smile for his students and faculty.

Minutes for contemplation came infrequently.

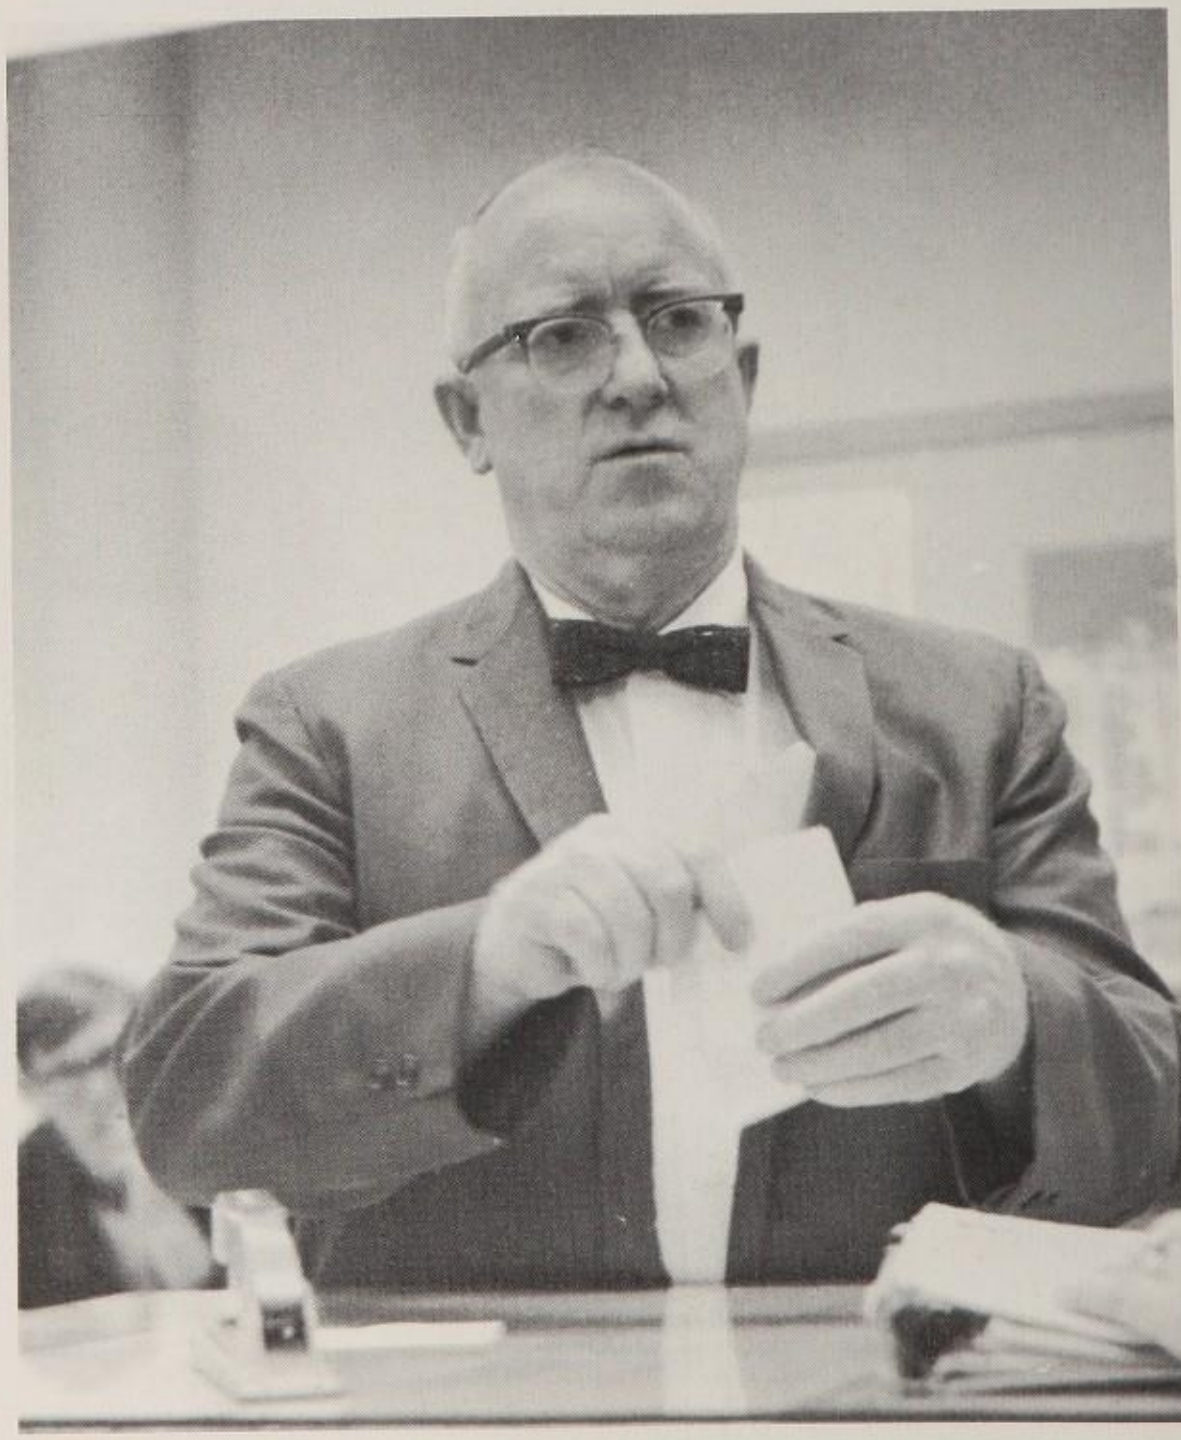
Forthcoming issues were discussed by Mr. Allsworth and members of the faculty before a meeting of the practicum committee.

Mrs. Glaeser efficiently carried out her secretarial duties.



Mr. Maggard concentrated on future plans for Industrial Education.

Mr. Stewart was known for disciplinary measures.



S.W. Loses Mrs. Barret to Retirement

Each of the assistant principals regulated one facet of Southwest. Mrs. Helene Lephew was in charge of the Guidance Department. Curriculum was under the direction of Mrs. Del Barret. Mr. Arvin Maggard supervised the Industrial Education Department. Mr. Winston Jones guided student activities and Mr. Carl Stewart was the assistant principal of administration.

1968 was marked by the retirement of Mrs. Del Barret. She will be a much-missed member of the faculty.

Mr. Jones directed school activities.

Mrs. Holman aided the assistant principals by keeping attendance records straight.

Mrs. Lephew diligently managed the Guidance Department.

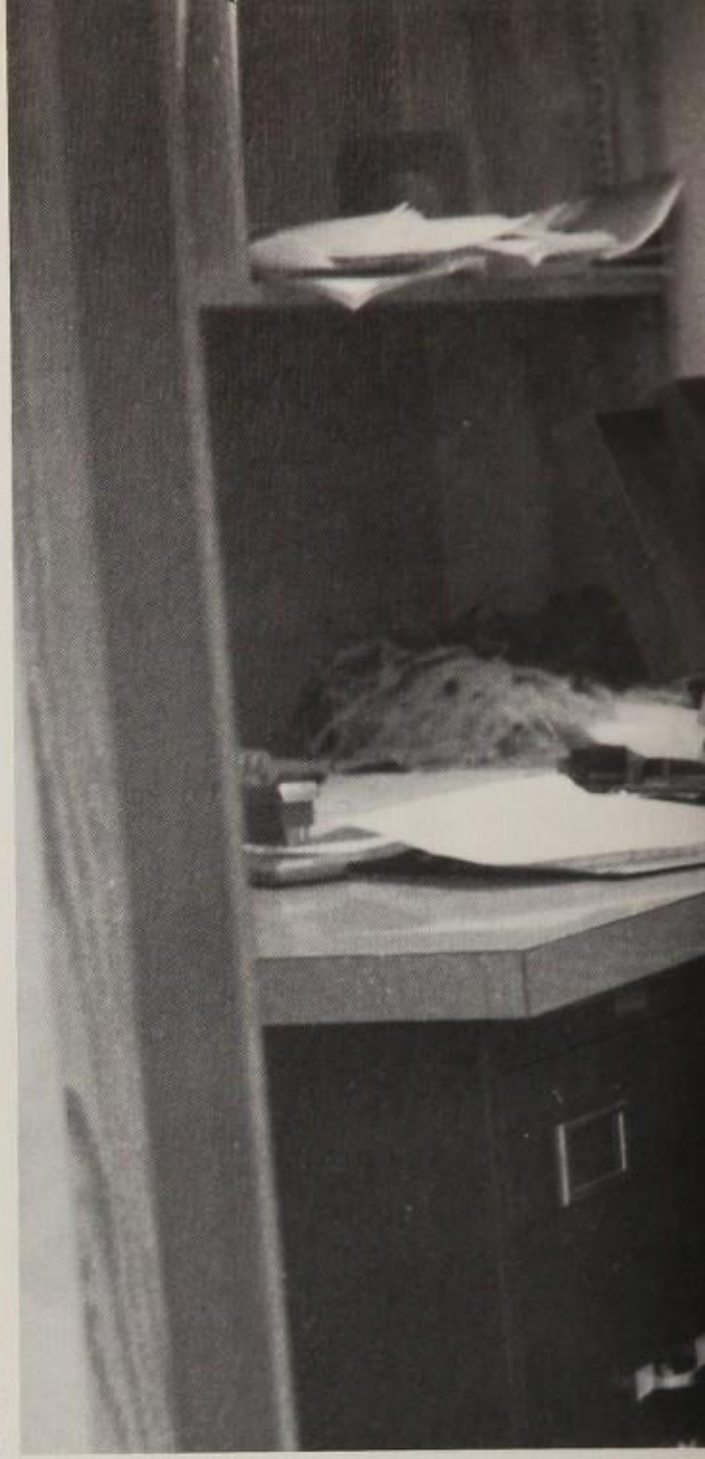
Guidance Aided Students

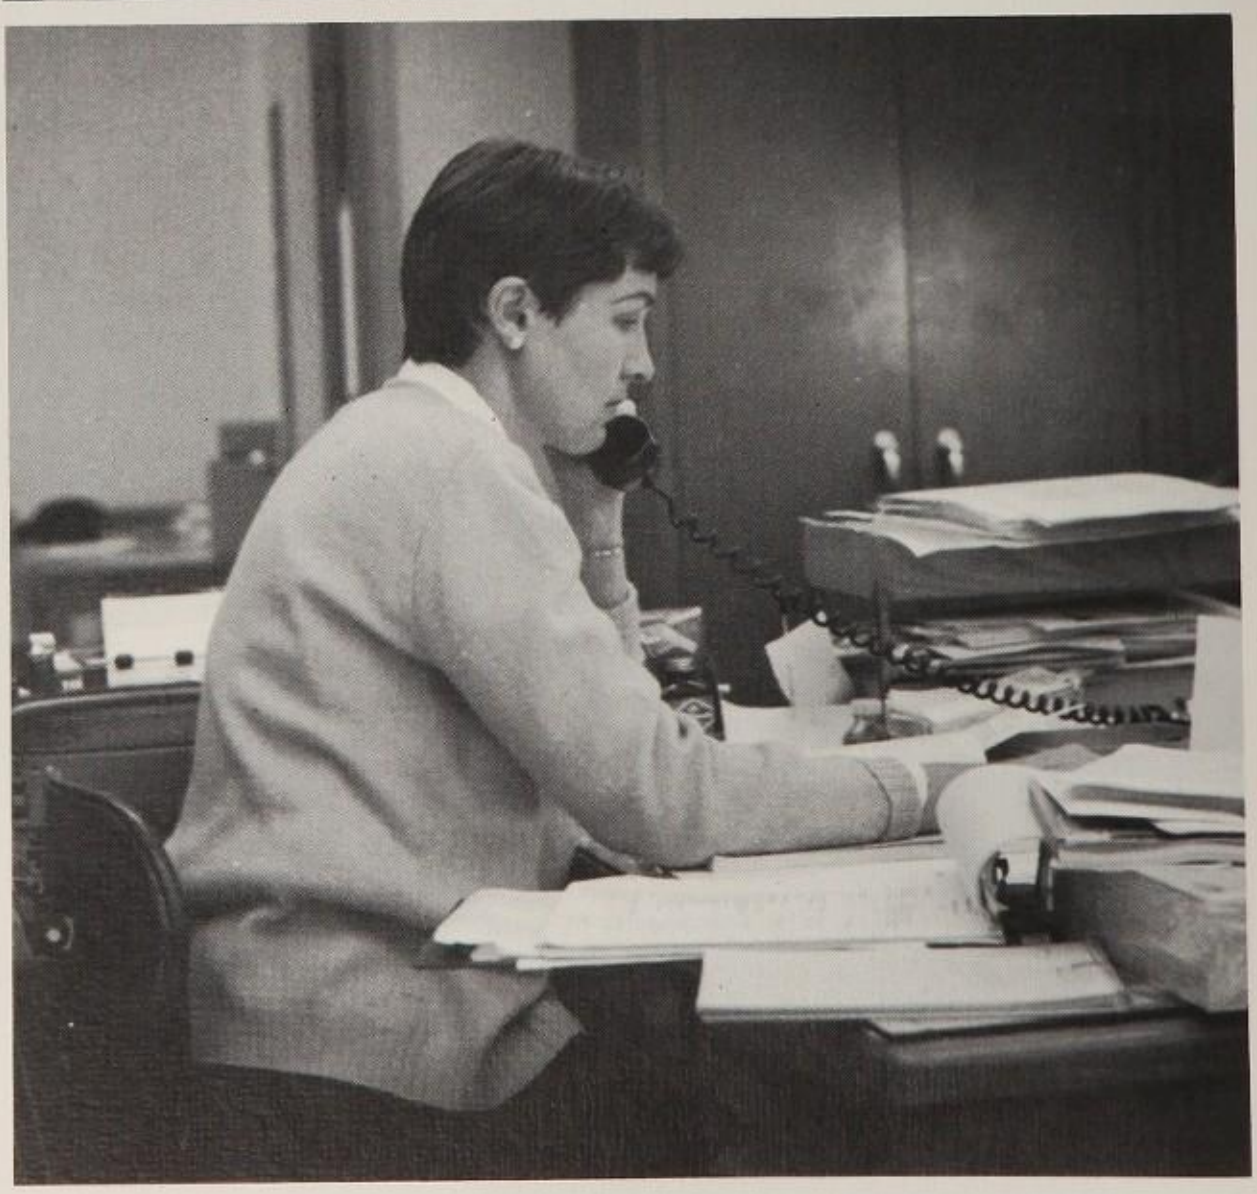
Helping to solve educational and vocational problems, the Guidance Department counseled students individually and in groups. Besides helping with personal problems, guidance counselors provided students with scholarship information, interpreted test scores and worked with teachers to promote the welfare of each Southwest student.

The Guidance department strove to reach each student, helping them to solve their own problems. In doing so each counselor, theoretically "puts himself out of a job."

Mrs. Kolosna counseled seniors.

Mr. Walker pensively mused over student scheduling problems.

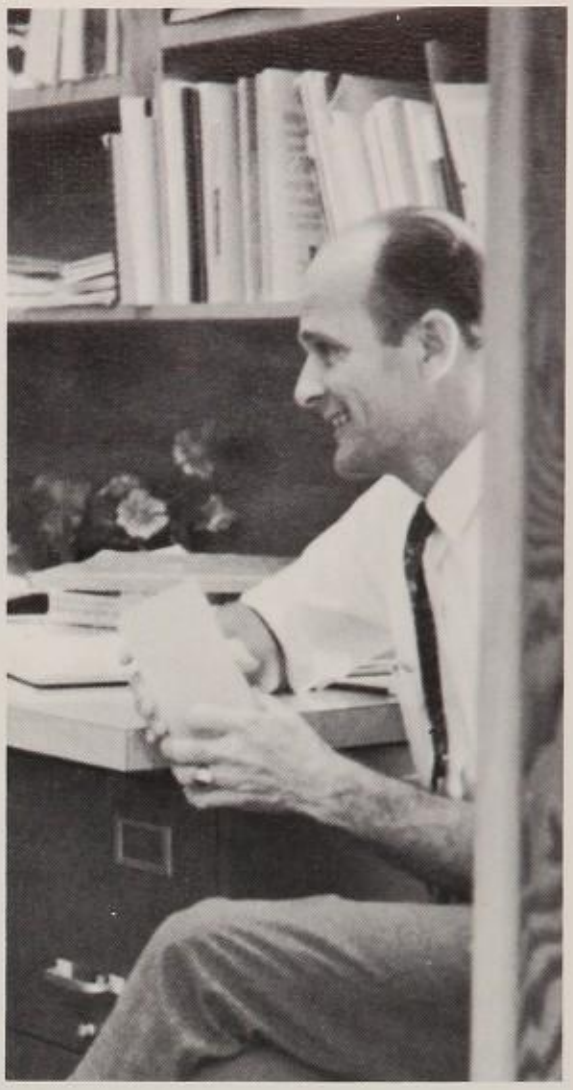




Mrs. Van Dyke, guidance secretary, was always kept busy.

Mr. Yanda worked on many student records during a busy day.

Mr. Rafield took a sincere interest in his student academic problems.



Mrs. Cadwallader found a few minutes for meditation.

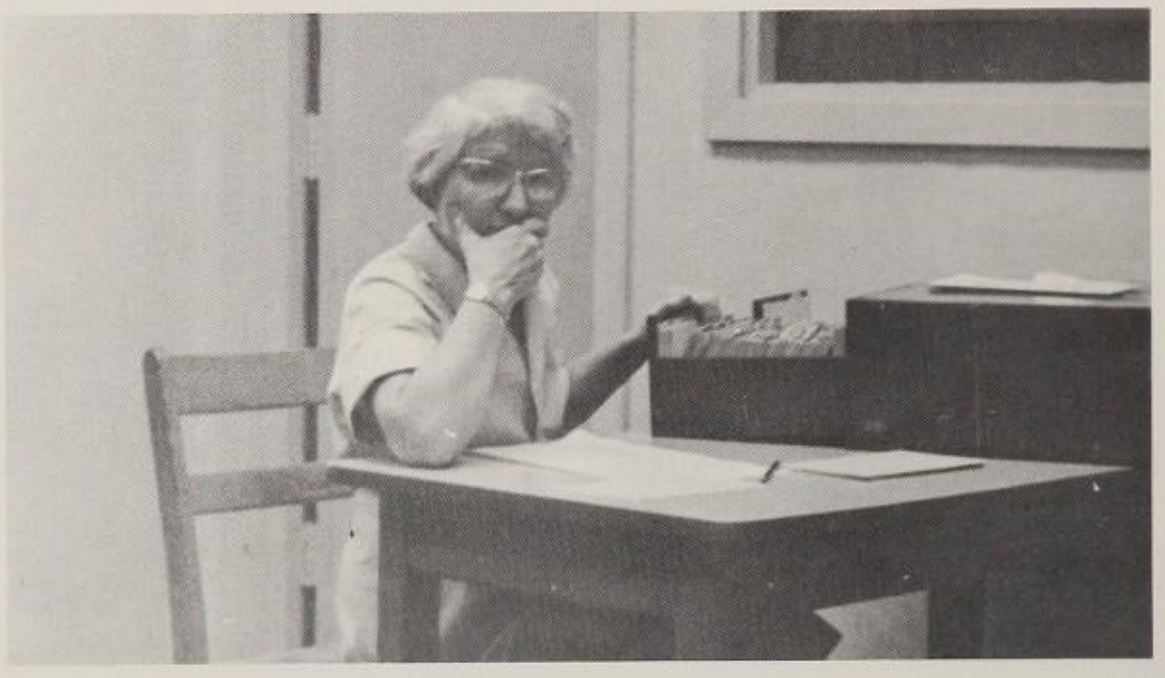
Mrs. Banks studiously contemplated senior testing procedures.

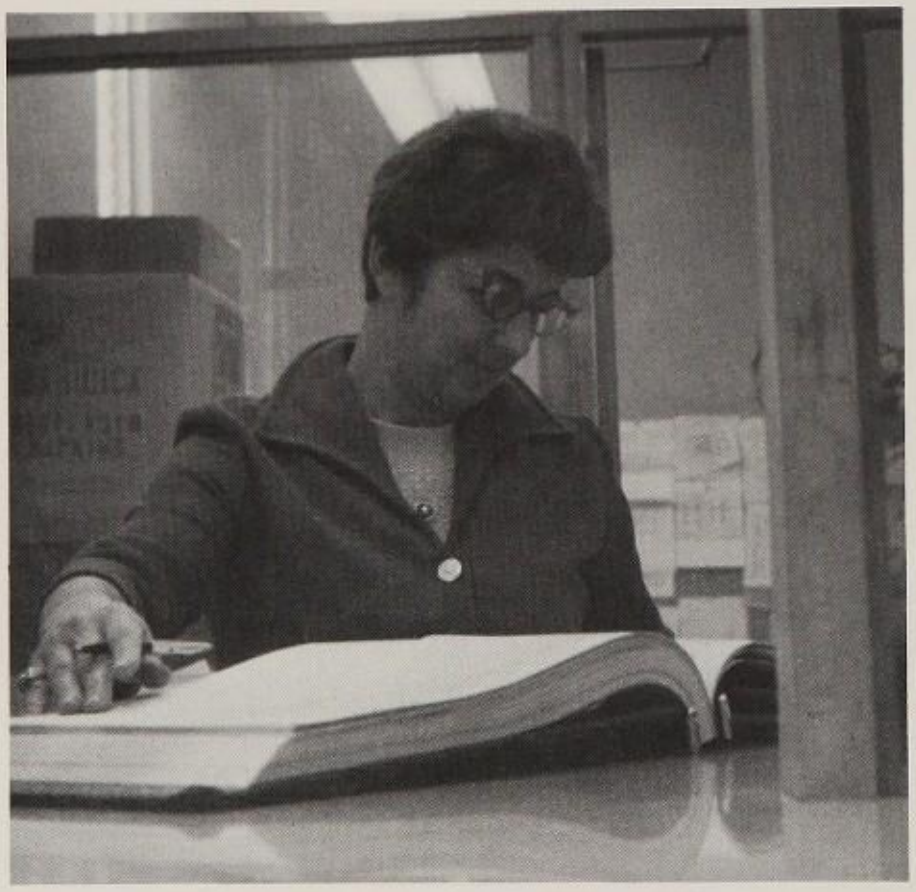
School Assistants Faithfully Served S.W.

Southwest's faculty and student body were indebted to the many school assistants, who helped to keep Southwest running smoothly.

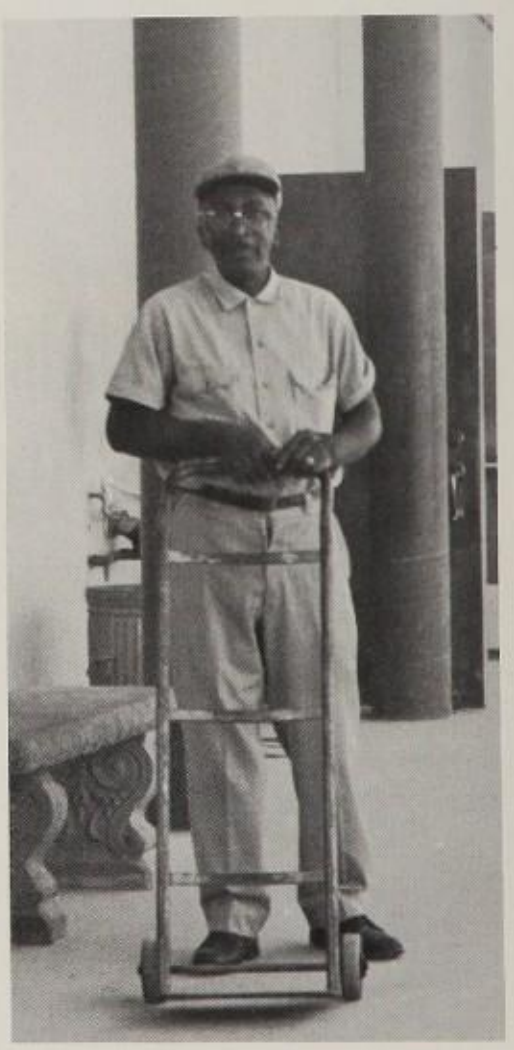
To the cafeteria assistants who prepared our mid-day meals, the bus drivers who provided our transportation, the nurse who cared for our sick, the office assistants who supervised financial and secretarial endeavors, the custodial staff who maintained a clean, pleasant atmosphere, and the P.T.S.A. officers who kept the channel open between parents, teachers and students—we of Southwest were indeed grateful.

Students knew better than to fake out Mrs. Job, our school nurse.





Mrs. Williams efficiently managed Southwest's financial records, refunds and receipts.



Custodians kept Southwest clean.

Mr. Schrader was one of Southwest's most enthusiastic and spirited boosters.

Ann Mathis and Sharon Yohn took their job of cutting desert seriously.

Mrs. Sheperd spent many hours in the kitchen preparing appetizing and well balanced meals for Southwest's students.

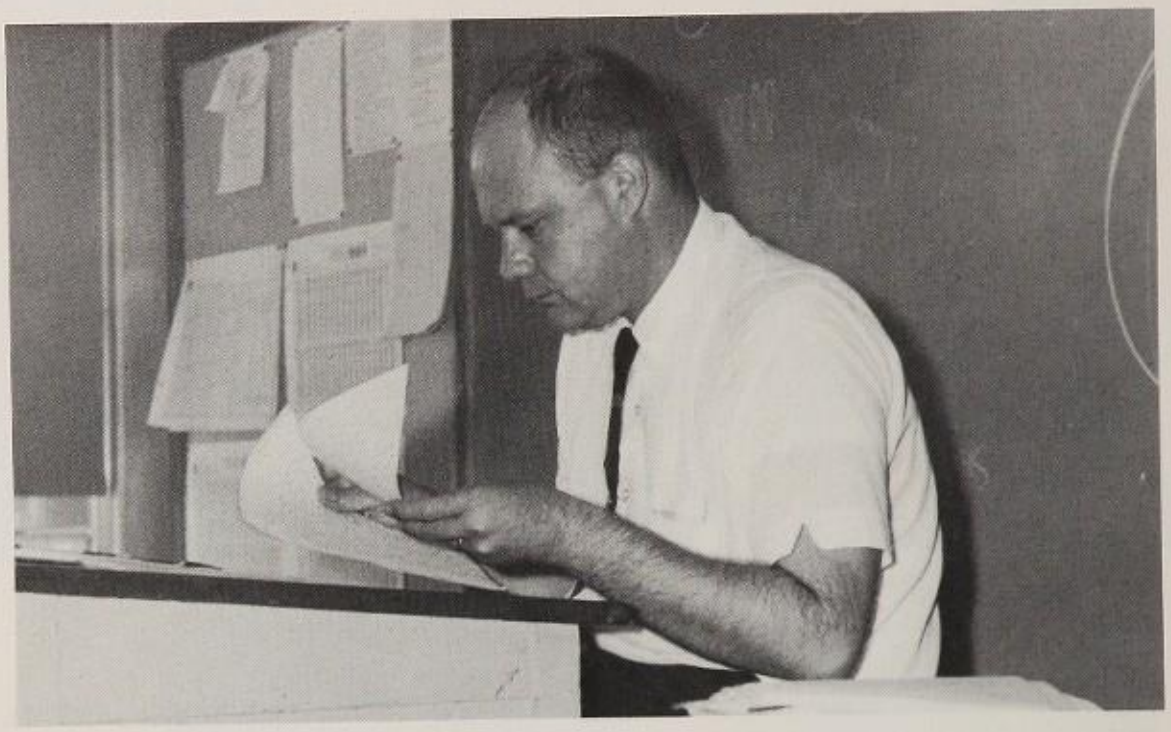
New Modern Lit Course Inaugurated

Besides featuring the teaching of language, literature, and composition in its required courses, the English Department offered a wide selection of electives to interested students. Teachers used television, records, films, magazines and paperbacks to enliven the curriculum.

A course in Modern Literature was inaugurated and offered to students as an alternative to 12th grade English literature.

Mrs. Gretchen Hankins, Department Head, stated the department's philosophy "stressed humanness, relevance, and competence."

Mr. May worked hard grading students' papers.



Mrs. Hankins enlightened her students with the many different aspects of English literature.

Miss Stone was astounded by Steve Davi's view of English.

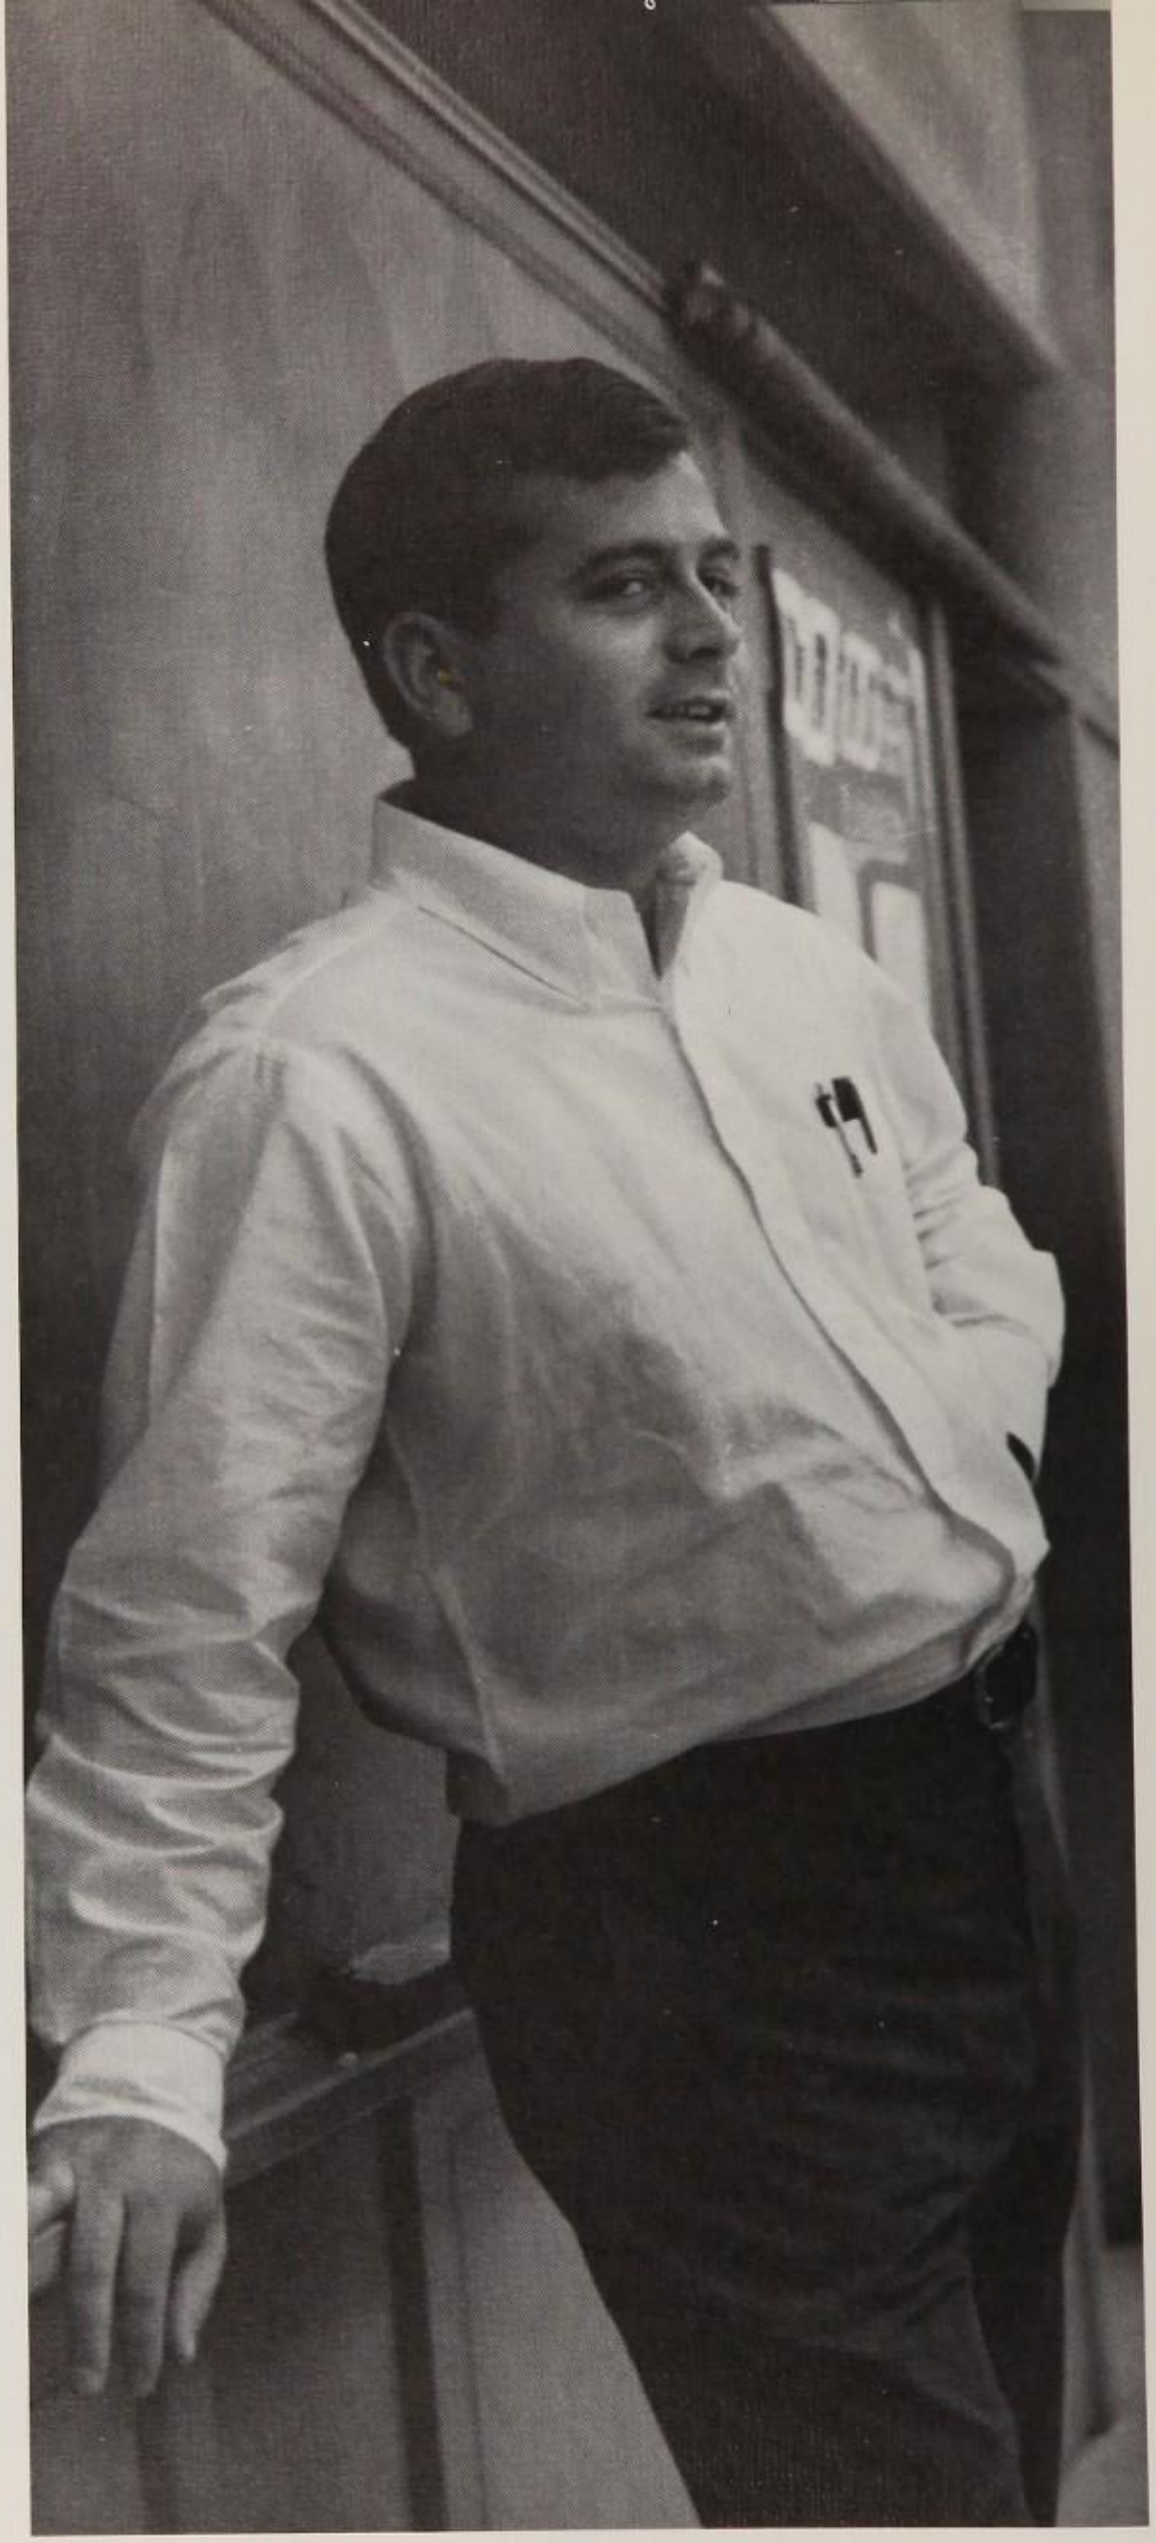
Mr. Cohan, Miss Rosner, Miss Shropshire, Mrs. Sullivan, and Miss Williamson attended the Florida Education Association professional meeting which was held in Orlando.

Mrs. Fischer, pep club sponsor, exhibited alot of spirit.

Mrs. Sullivan stood quietly as students participated in a pep rally.

Visual aids were frequently put to good use by Mrs. McKim during government classes.

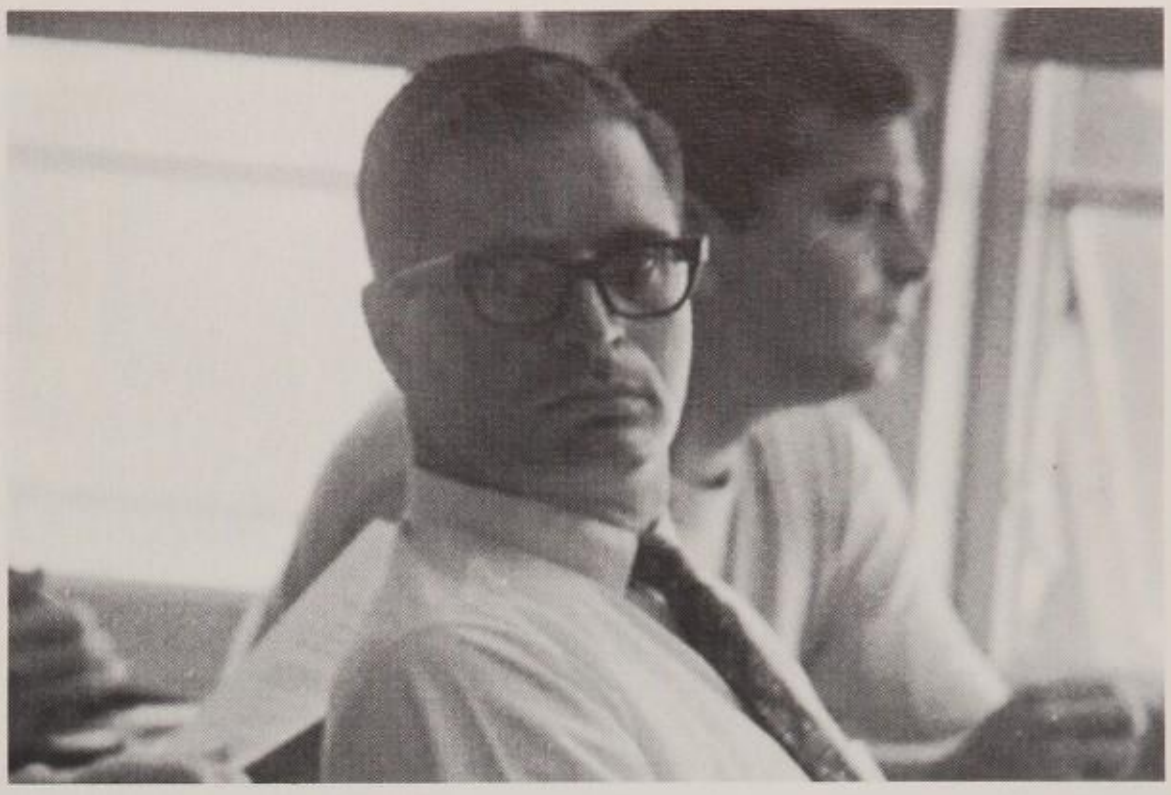
Mr. Sheridan found time between History classes to make a few phone calls.



Mr. Mullens pondered a student's view of Social Studies.

in Depth Investigations Made in Government

Mr. Sulzberg attended many teacher conferences.



Social Studies added Latin American Culture and U.S. Government and Economics—Independent Study to its curriculum. Latin American Culture dealt with the economic, geographical, and social factors as well as the cultural aspects of the Latin American nations. An in depth investigation on an independent basis was the background of U.S. Government and Economics Independent Study.

Some of the classes researched the problem "What can a school do for its community?" by actually going out into the field.

U.S. government classes were didactically taught by Mr. Darrell Christie.

Science Added a New Dimension to Learning

Instructions were given to chemistry students by Mr. Barnes.

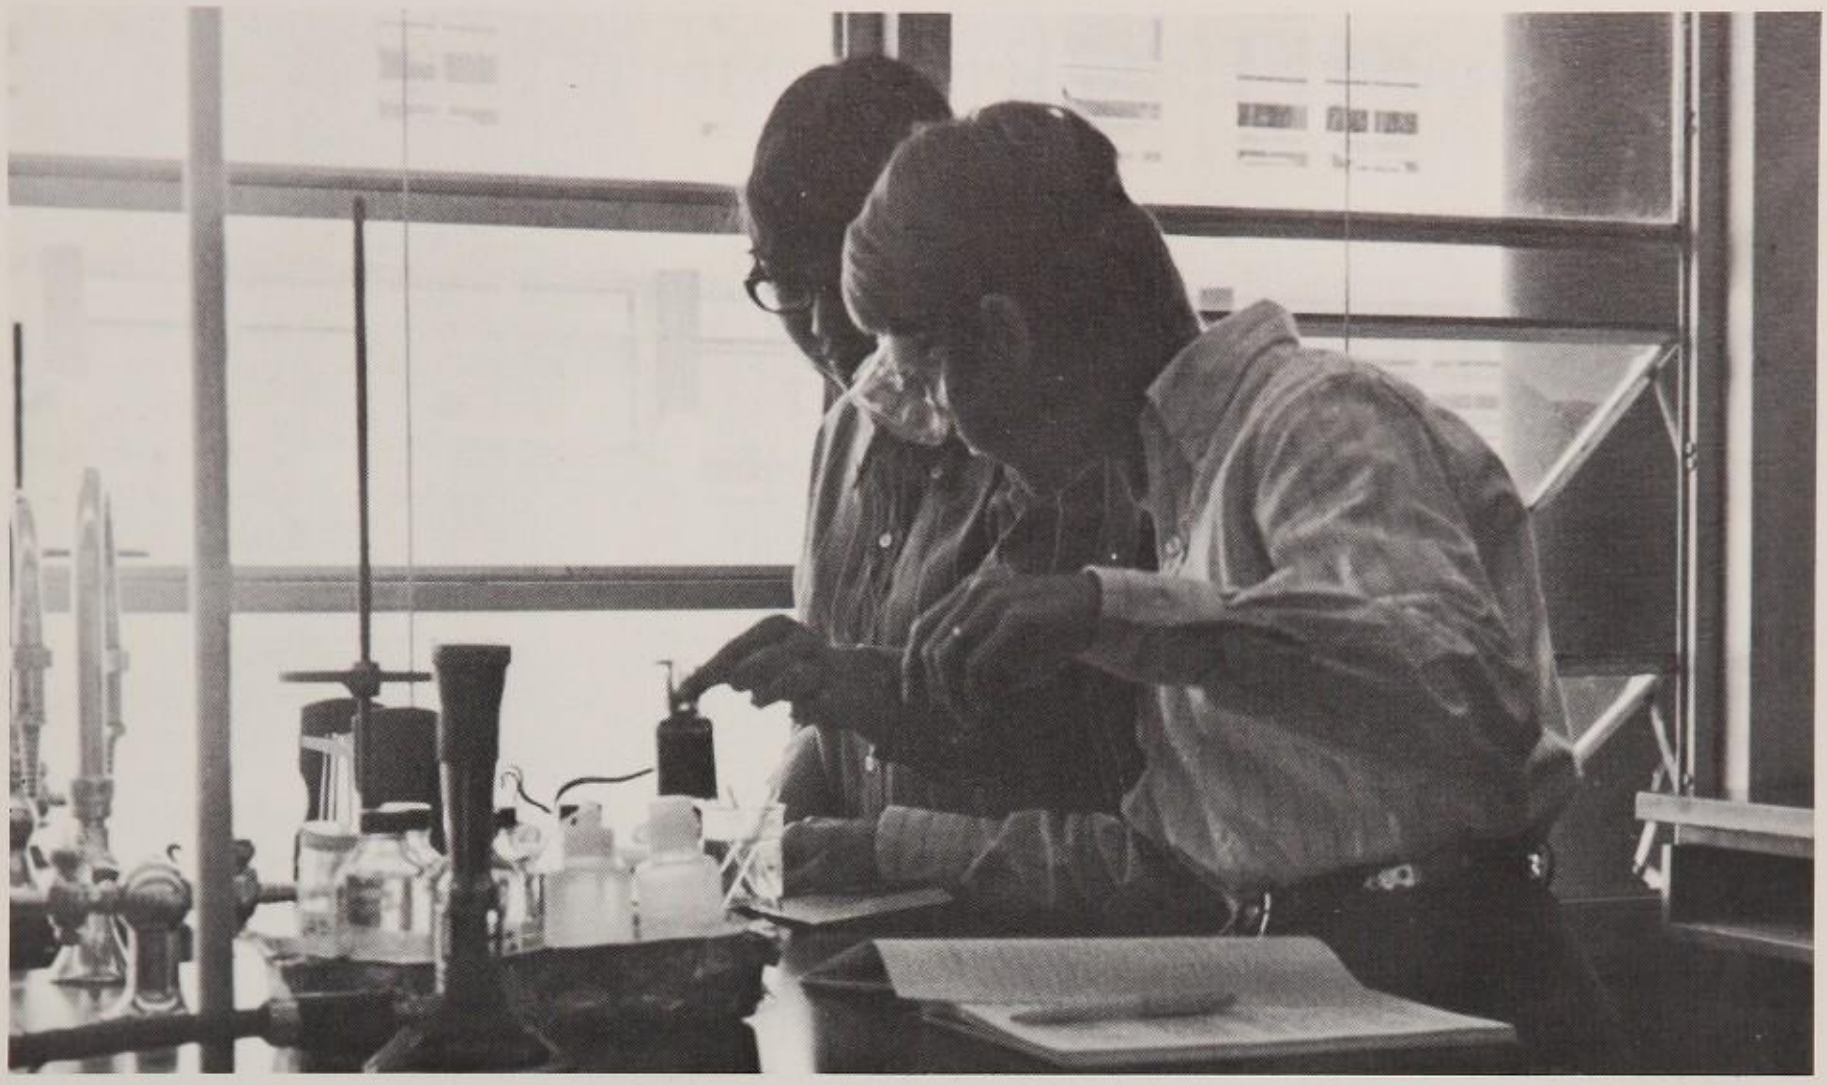
Southwest's science department underwent a massive face-lifting during September. Three classrooms were converted into labs and storage space. Paperbacks and filmstrips were added to the fledgling library, while single-concept films gave a new dimension to learning.

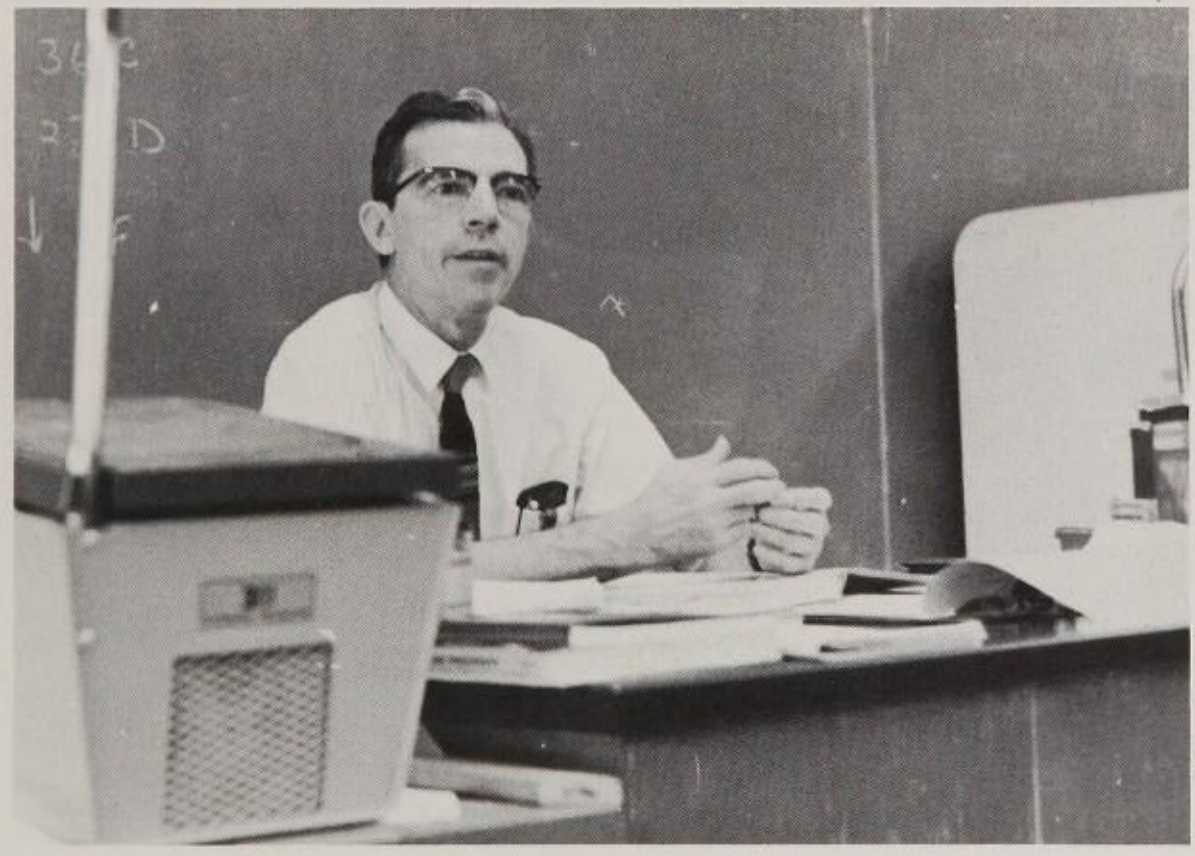
Advanced Biology received several hundred dollars worth of new equipment which facilitated the development of a course geared to the college-bound student. Harvard Project Physics, a new concept in science, was designed to treat physics as a lively and fundamental science.

Classroom antics were given reproachful glances by "Mr. Mac".

Chemistry and Biology students were taught by Mrs. Gunsallus with the aid of the overhead projector.

Many students were perplexed, if not confused, by chemistry experiments.



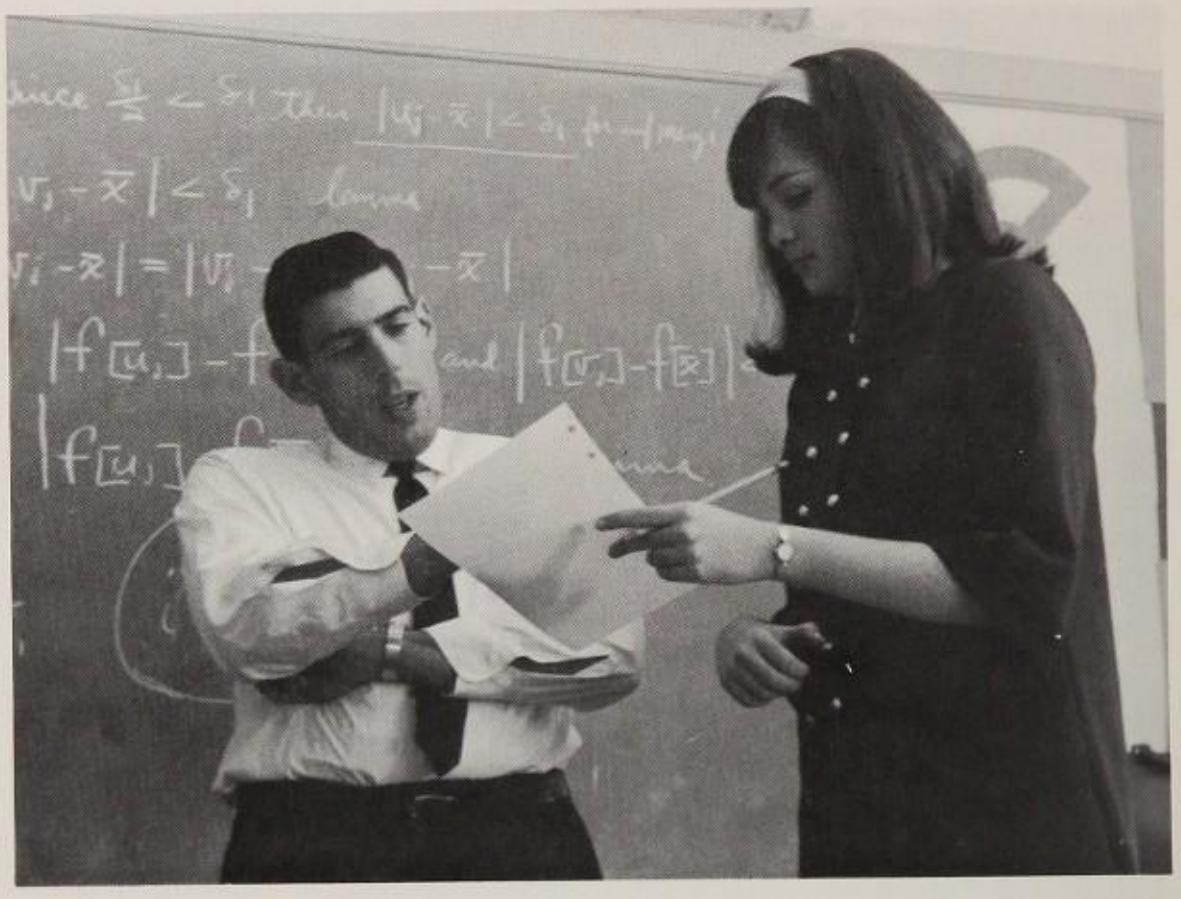


Did Mr. Doyle find his students' questions amusing?

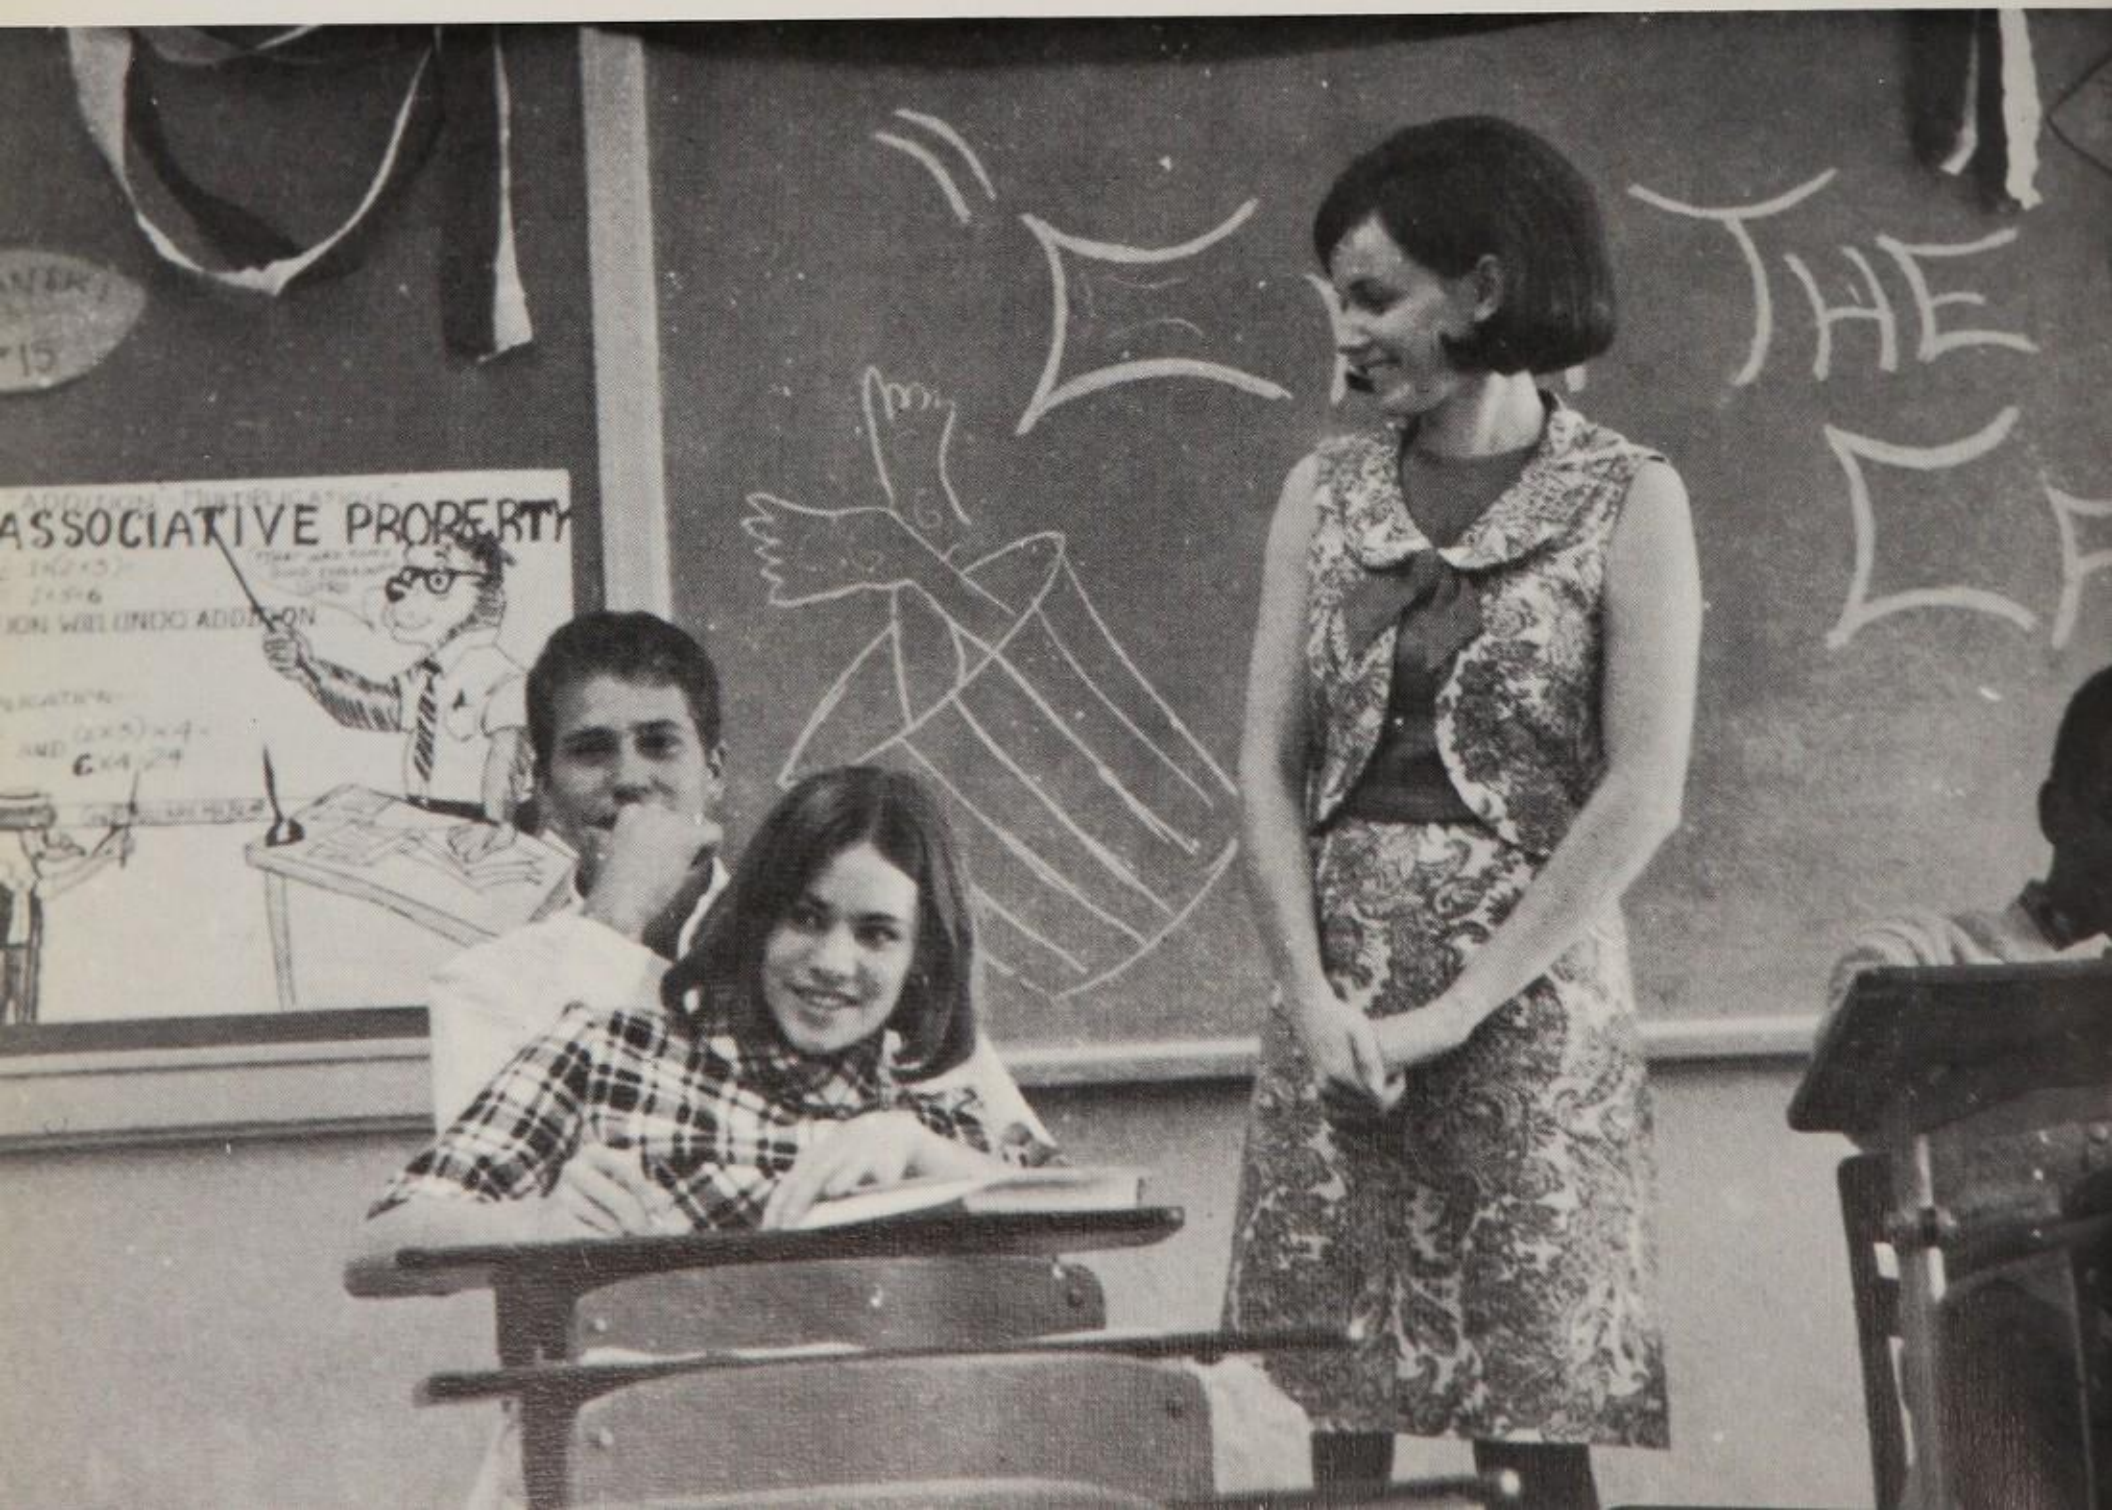
New Geometry Used Experimental Texts

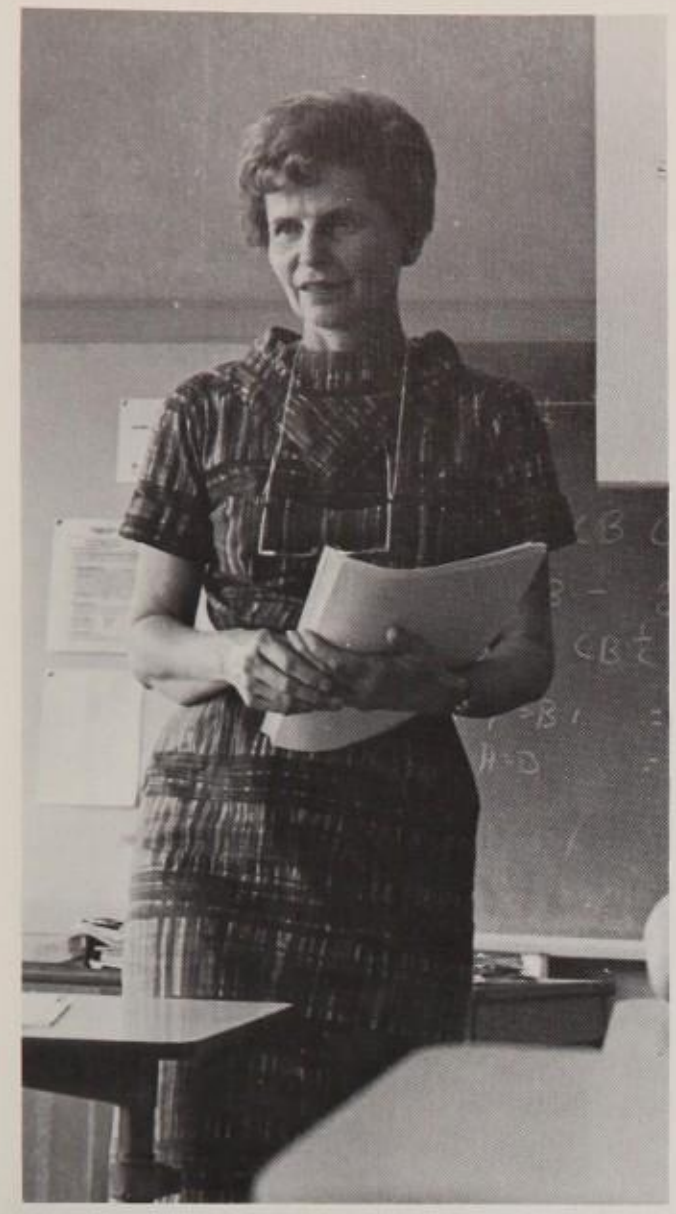
Mathematics introduced a geometry program which used experimental paperback texts that had not been published for regular use. The text included more algebra than was previously taught in geometry.

General Mathematics students were constantly reevaluated and moved from one level to another, after a conference was held to determine what was best for the student, and to select the best time for the change. Three levels of endeavor were offered—Basic Math, General Math, and Pre-Algebra to encourage moving to a higher level.



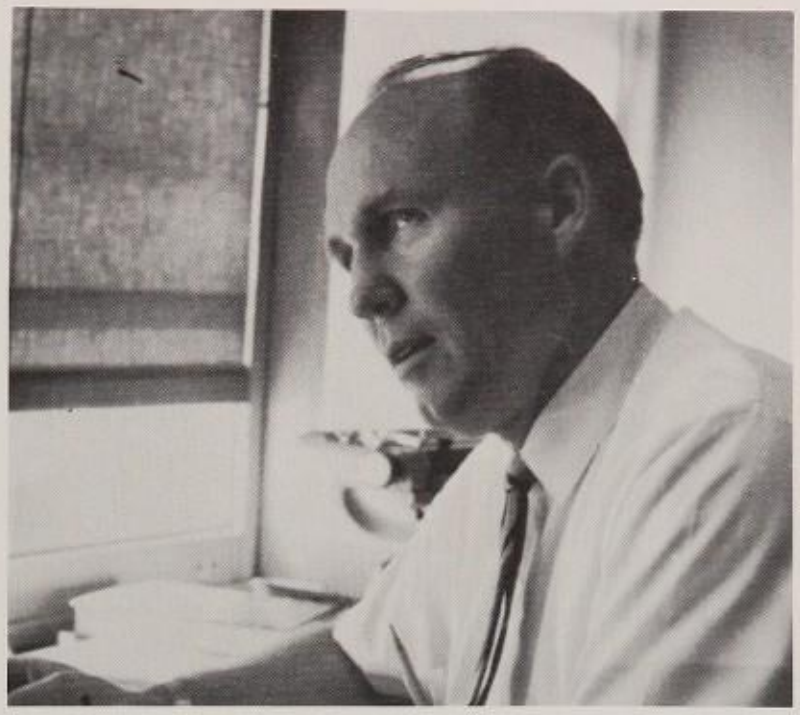
Mr. Stark offered his assistance.

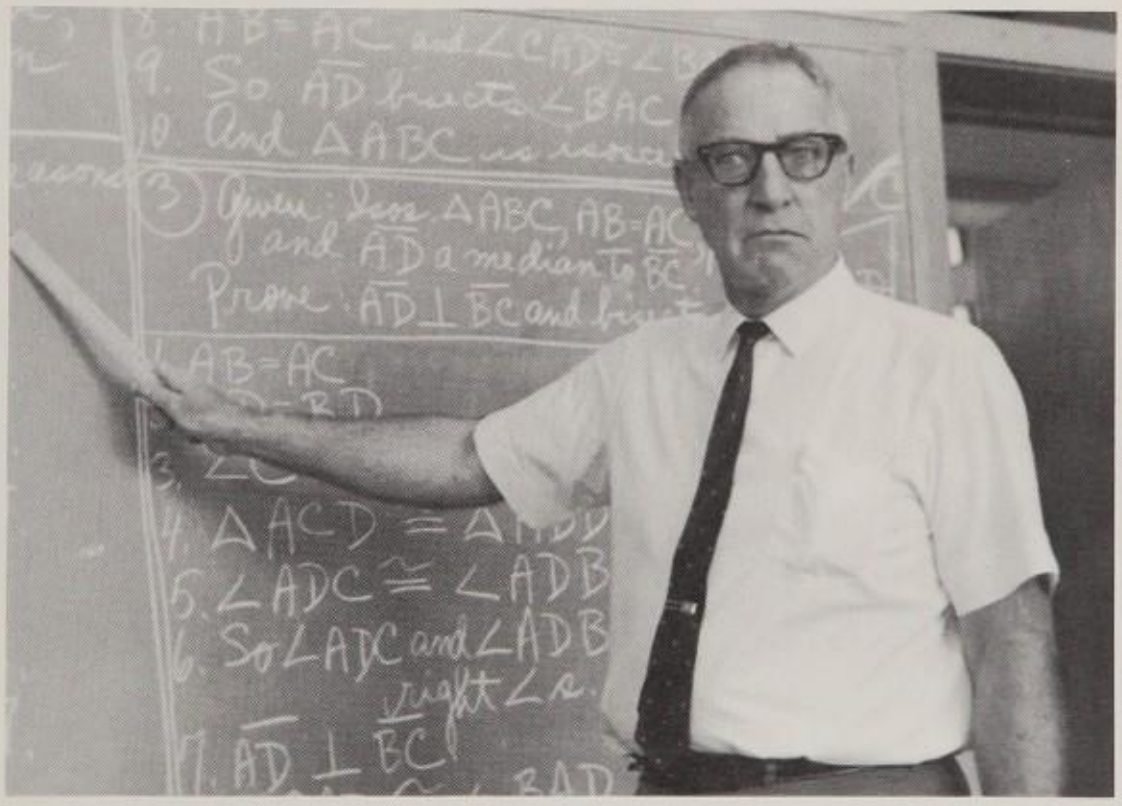




Mrs. Harris prepared thought provoking Algebra tests.

Mr. Cleland found the Southwest Math Department to be both instructive and progressive.





Geometry proofs were taken seriously by Mr. Hawley.

Miss Shafer enjoyed working with her students.

Visual Aids Emphasized to Develop Skills

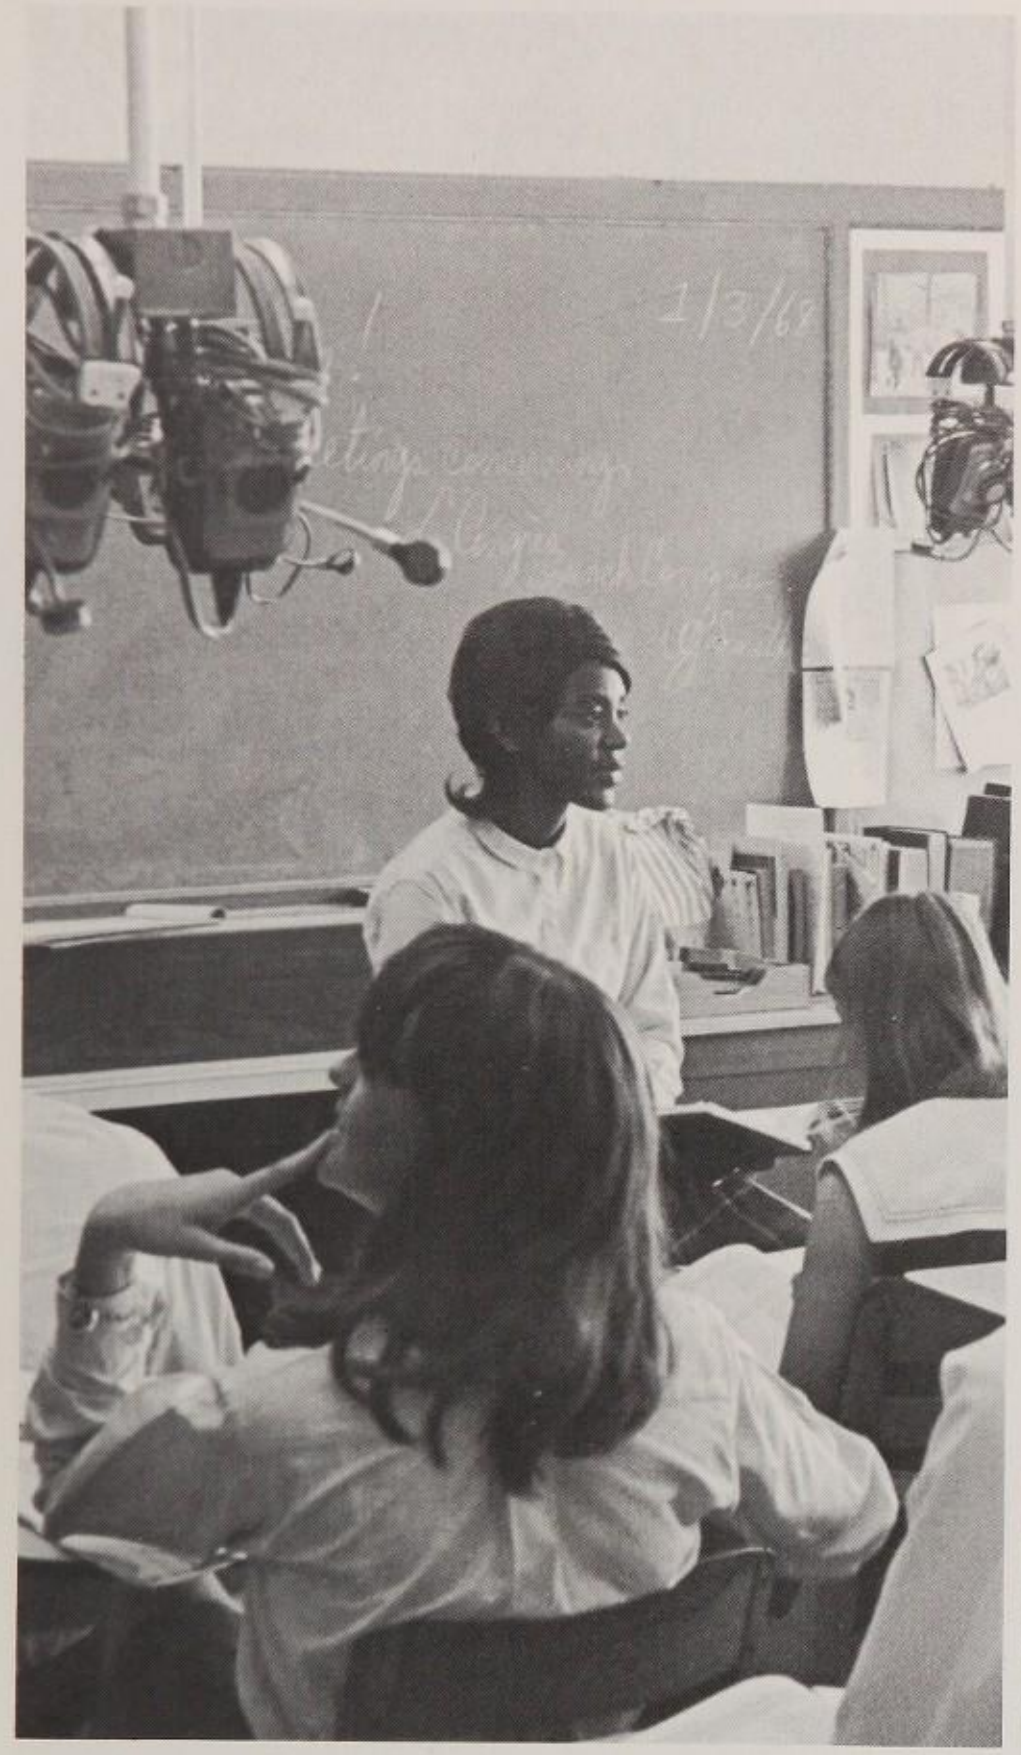
Foreign language students noticed an emphasis on visual aids in the development of language skills. Most of the foreign language classrooms were equipped with overhead projectors to make use of the new transparencies on Latin America and Spain.

The addition of three new teachers to the department; Mrs. Mercedes Calvera, Mr. Calizto Perez, and Mr. Raymond Grossman, made it possible to offer Spanish 5 and French 5 for the first time.

Audio-lingual facilities were utilized by Mrs. Mercedes Calvera.

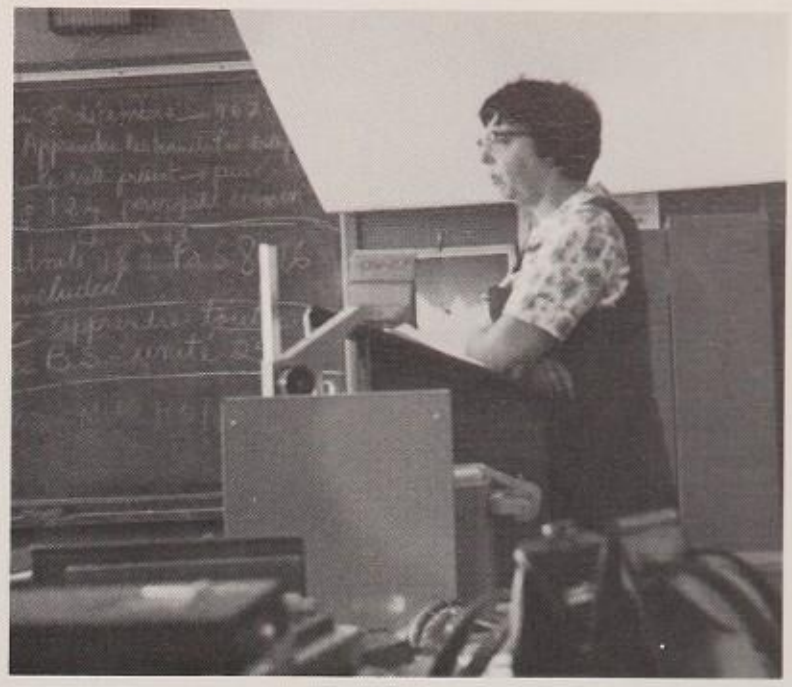
Madame Jarry and Mrs. Fischer listened to a discussion on the importance of communicating in various languages at a faculty meeting.

Mrs. Smith developed the interest that is essential in language study.



When the earphones weren't in use, Mrs. Carolyn Smith stressed class participation in French discussions.

French IV classes benefited from Madam Jarry's natural French accent in their study of French poetry and literature.

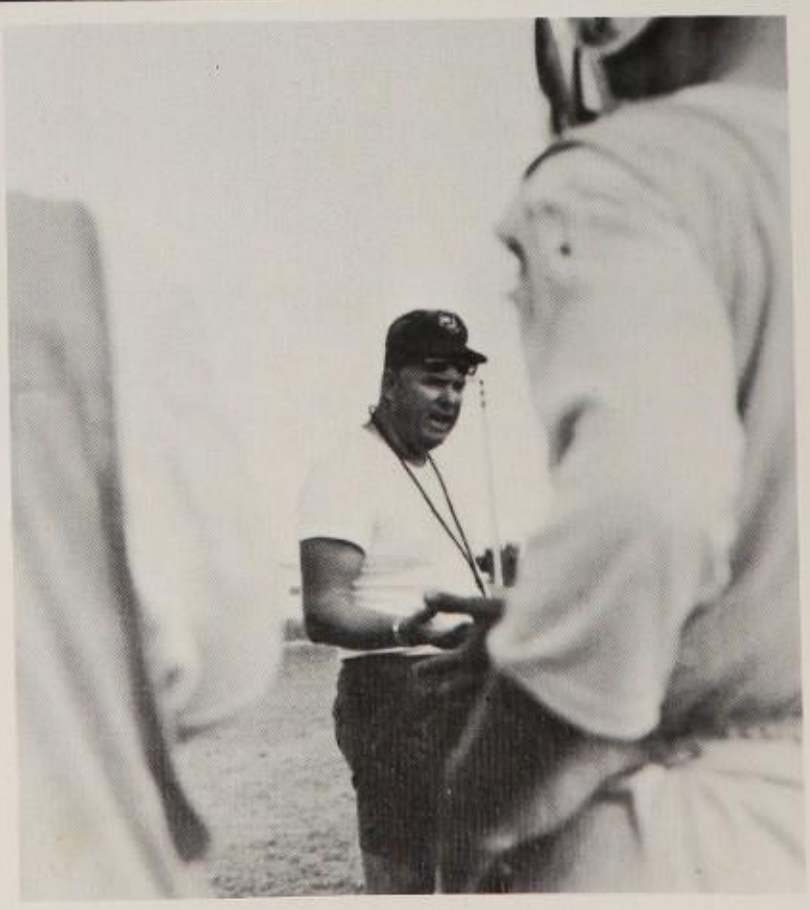


Photographers' were caught invading Miss Saenz's classroom during a testing situation.

Miss Presnell explained a fencing technique to Andria Matz.

Coach Jupin predicted another Eagle victory.

Coach Ellis directed the J.V. in blocking and tackling practice on many afternoons.



P.E. Classes Offered More Variety . . .

Physical Education placed emphasis on a well rounded program of fitness, individual and team sports, and co-educational activities. Modern Dance, fencing, body mechanics, golf, tennis, bowling, and swimming were added to the ever increasing selections of sports.

Modern Dance was offered to senior girls to help develop a perception of rhythm for greater efficiency and pleasure.

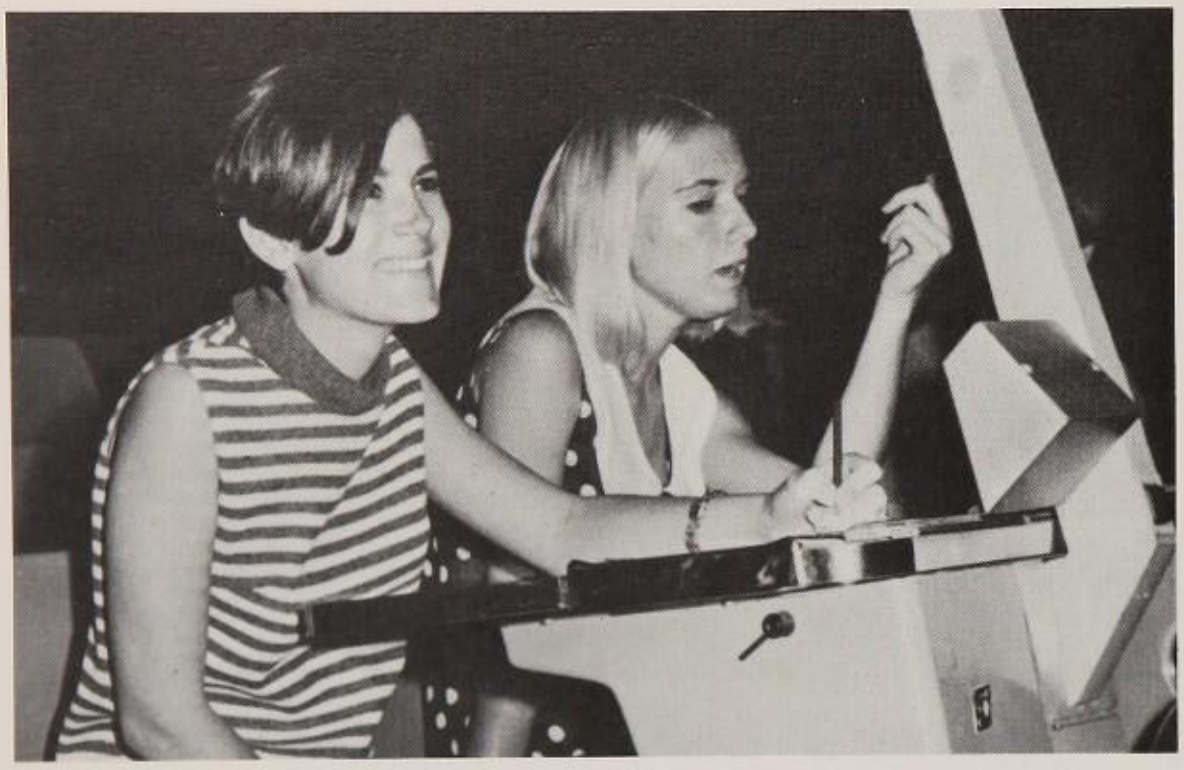
New equipment included finikling sticks, Ever-genies, and a Cardio-vascular step test tape.

Mrs. Kynn called the shots in a game of speedball.

Coaches Grubb, Grossman, and Lepore pulled for their boys during the Gables game.

. . . and New Classes for Seniors

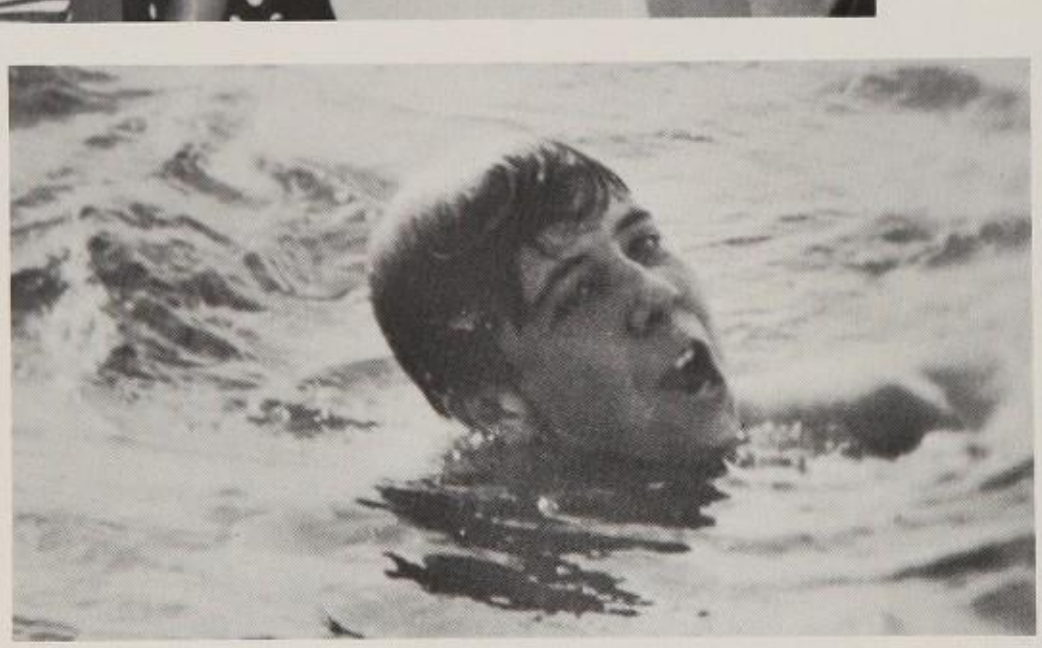
Bonnie Miller and Chris Youse kept score for the bowling class.



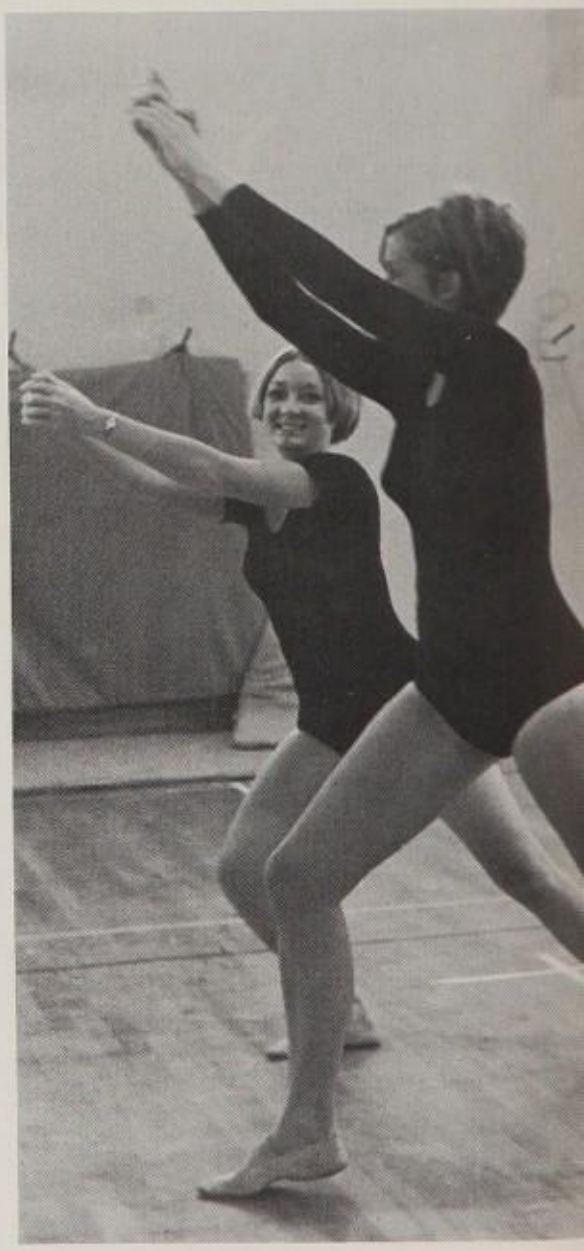
Fine staff members and four new instructors made the addition of new classes possible in the Physical Education Department.

For the first time, a co-educational golf and tennis course was offered for senior students. Modern Dance was available for senior girls who wished to develop an awareness and appreciation of dance. The classes utilized school facilities, neighborhood golf and tennis courts, and public pools and lakes.

Students seemed to enjoy the deviation from the traditional idea of Physical Education and teachers seemed more contented with student achievement.



Jay Miller took advantage of Lake Catalina's warm waters—an added attraction to the Golf and Tennis class.



Jan Michel gracefully executed one of the various dance positions.

After a rough (?) tennis match the girls took time out to catch their breath.

Mike Zapel practiced chip shots in a sand trap.

Coach Levin explained the handling of golf clubs to Chris Youse.

FBLA Selected Outstanding Students

Student grades were always given careful consideration by Miss Eleanor Jack.

Typewriters were essential to business education.

Typing class required much concentration.

Southwest offered a variety of courses for the business minded student. Cooperative Business Education and Cooperative Distributive Education gave the student a chance to attend school part time and spend the rest of the day in on-the-job training in an office or sales job.

Electric typewriters, transcribers, card punchers, desksize bookkeepers, and ten full key adding machines were added to the department.

The honorary business club, Future Business Leaders of America, continued to select the outstanding business students.

Mr. Rimon smiled for our photographers.

Students sought Mrs. Carlton's help.

Students Developed Individual Skills

Industrial Arts students gained an essential knowledge of the materials used in the operation of industry. They also learned the basic skills which are necessary for the safe, effective handling of tools.

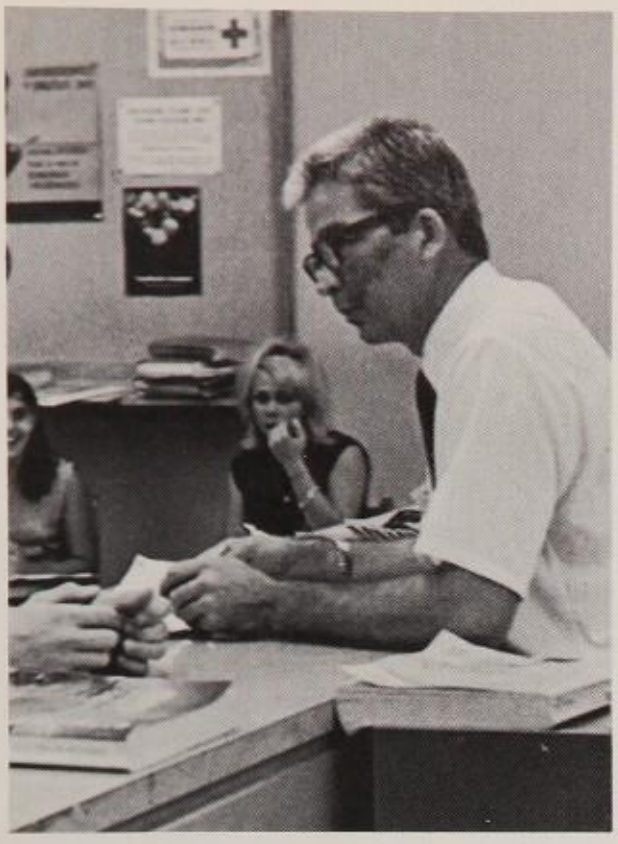
Shop students learned to make furniture, skiis, and other wooden objects, while graphic arts classes concentrated on architectural drafting and silk screening. Projects completed by the boys were displayed in a special showcase which they arranged themselves: The hanging lamp display was one of the most effective in the history of S.W.

The purpose of the program was to provide students with individual skills which would prepare them for employment after graduation.

Mr. Veber directed his students in exploring and developing skills which would prepare them for future employment.

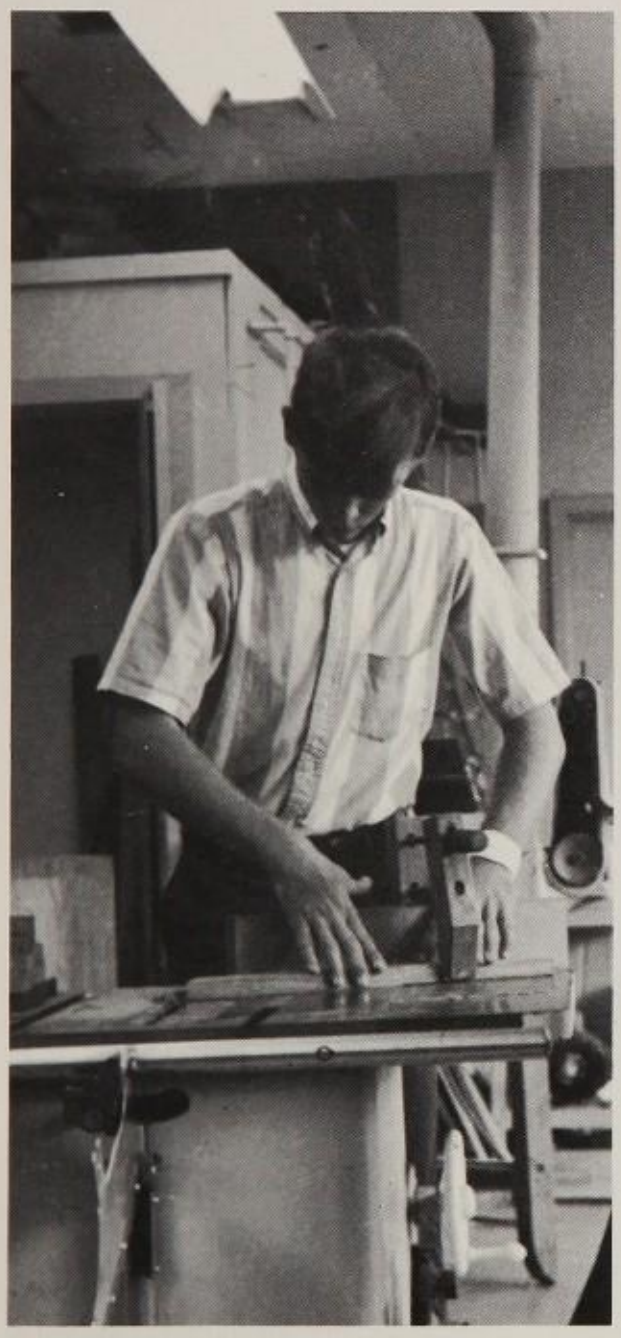
Commercial Art, an extensive new course at Southwest, taught the value of design in advertising. The instructor was Mr. Mazzucchelli.

After carefully planning and evaluating, Ken Church worked towards the successful completion of his wood shop project.

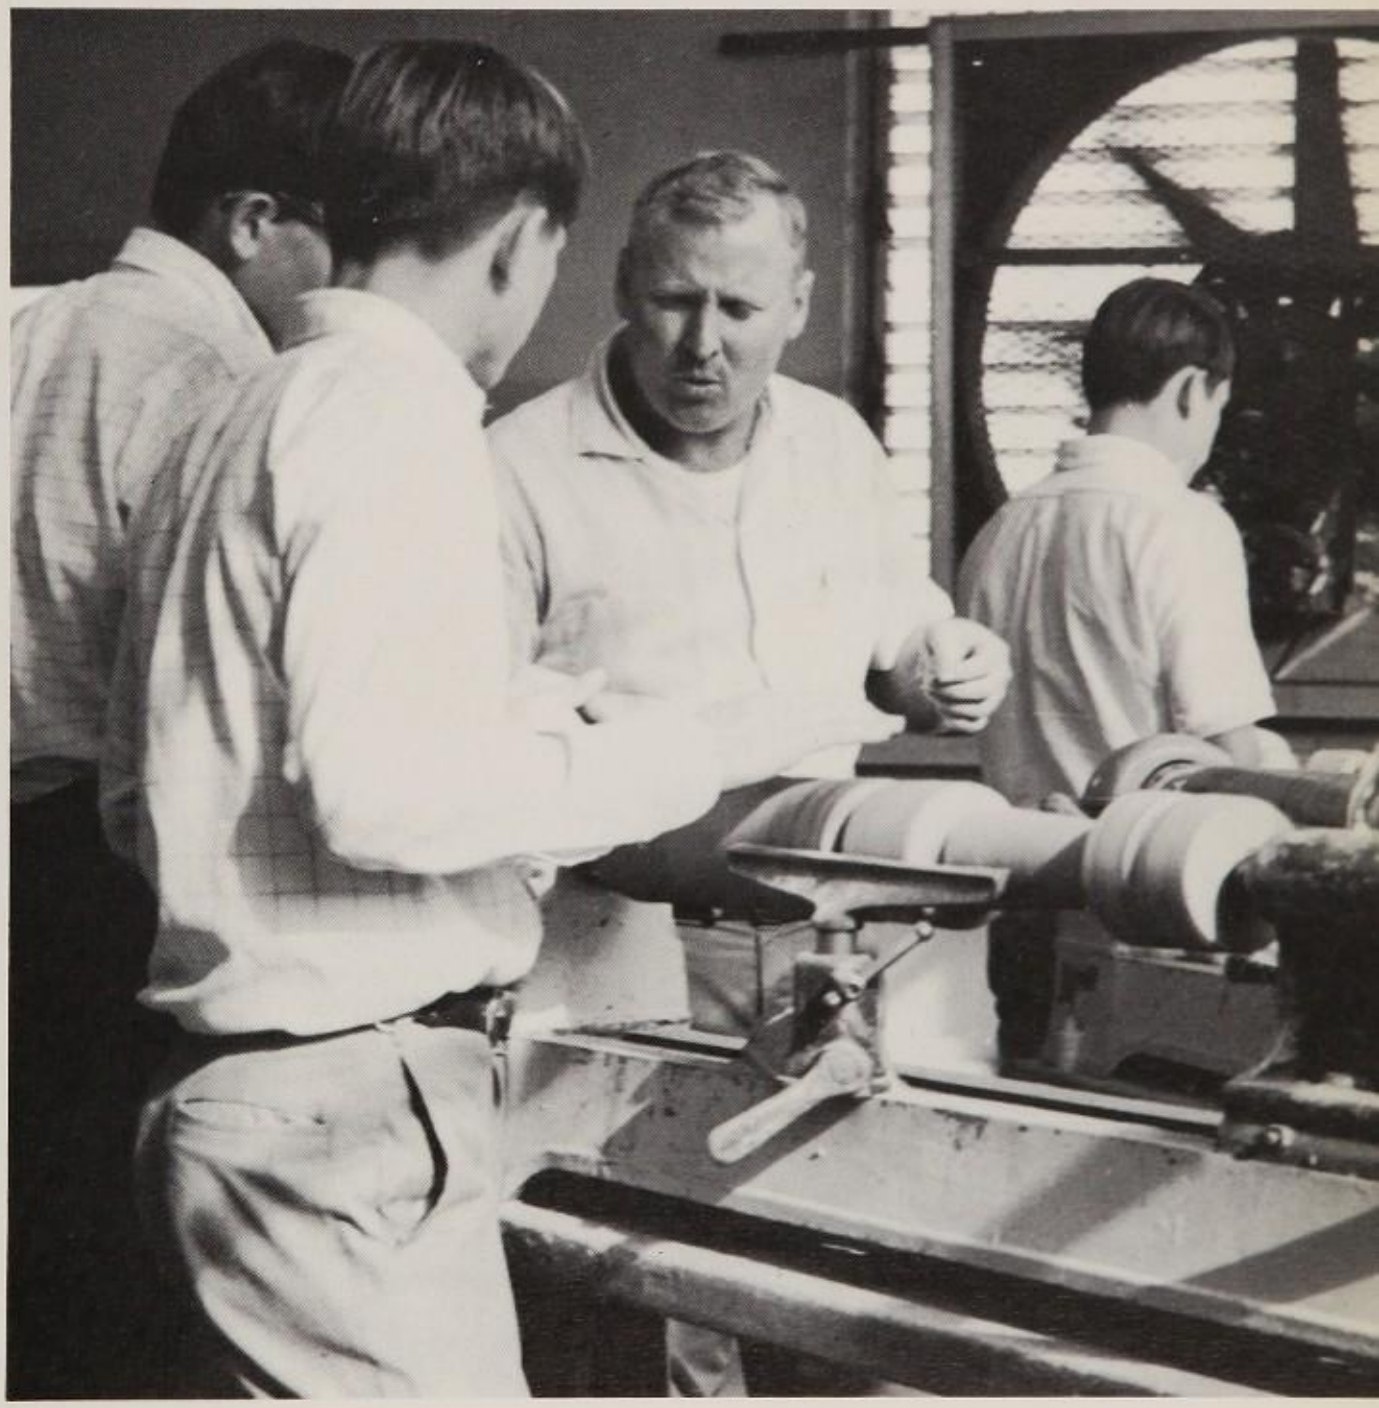


Departmental problems were worked out by Mr. Arven Maggard.

James Honroth concentrated intently on an electronics project.



Safe handling of equipment such as the electric saw was stressed.



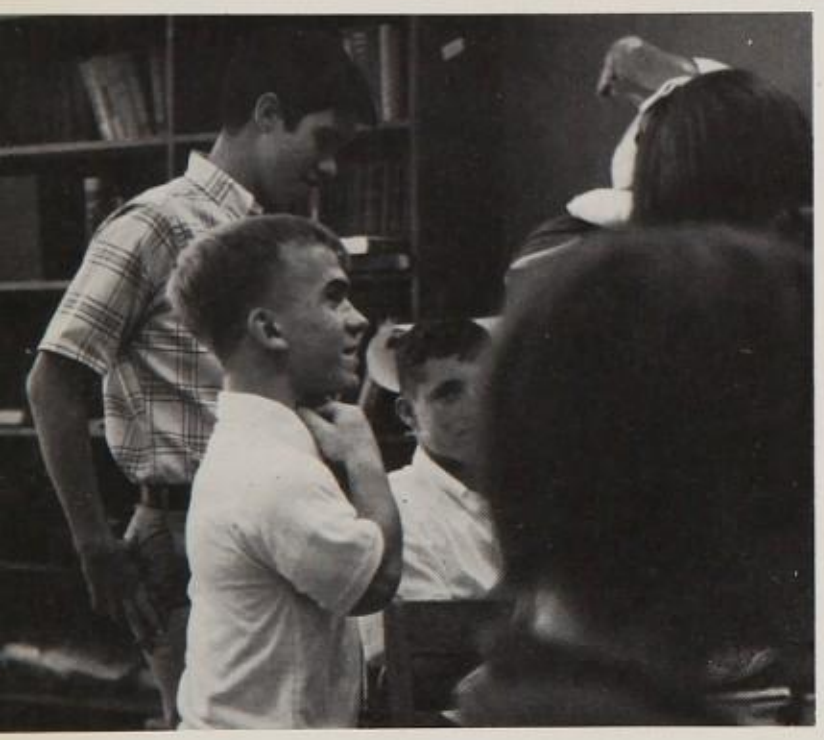
Instruction on the use of the lathe was preserved by Mr. Veber.

Students Urged to Develop Skills

Students with audio, visual, or physical handicaps supplemented their studies with the guidance of Mrs. S. Pauline Fischer.

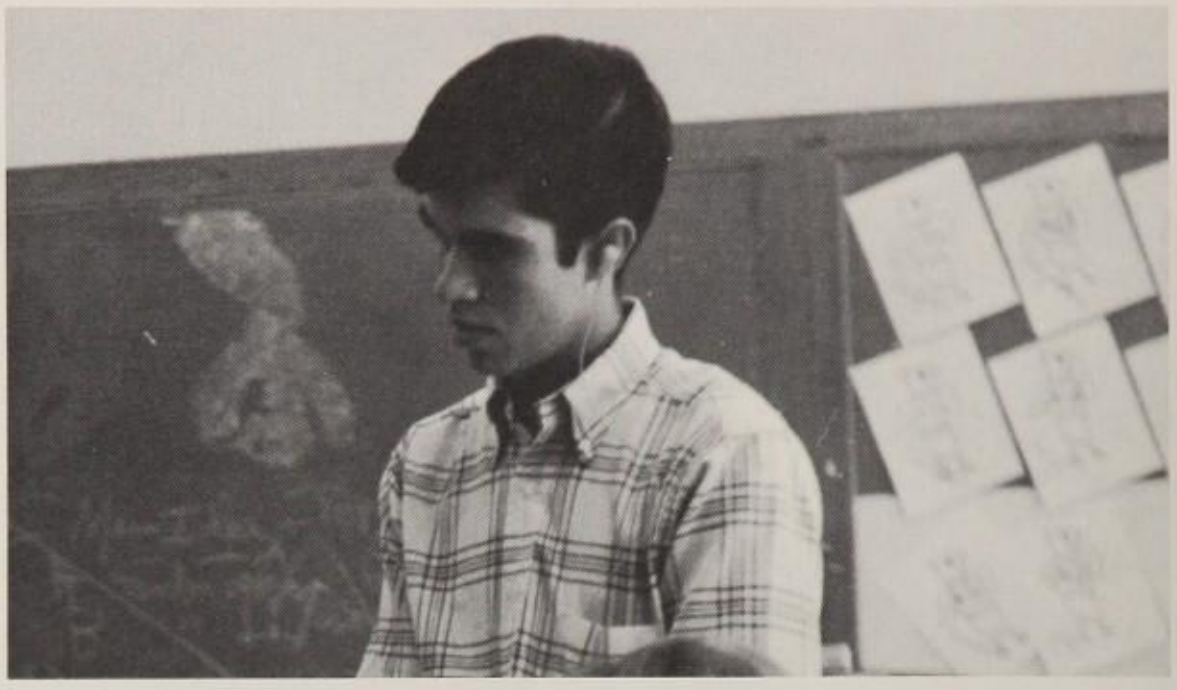
The Special Education students benefited from Braille books, speech tape recordings, instruction in lip reading, and specially purchased equipment.

New as resource teacher, Mrs. Fischer urged the students to develop individual talents and skills as far as their individual disabilities allowed.



Informal class sessions were sometimes spent discussing points brought up in class . . . or perhaps last night's basketball game?

Special Education facilities were taken advantage of by Bob Garcia.



Mrs. Fischer, Department head, and a student checked the announcements for upcoming activities.

Pep Club members debated the issues and activities of an upcoming meeting.

Karen Lee was disgusted with an overload of homework assignments.

Bobby Thomas, equipment manager for the varsity team, worked hard at doing his job efficiently.

Modern Family Living taught the fundamentals of home economics to both boys and girls.

Mrs. Bootes discussed with Mike Zapel the advantages of a co-educational home economics class.

Judy Marine carefully cut out crepe paper leaves for a crepe paper flower.

Creative Abilities Displayed at Open House

Through crepe paper flowers Ed Pisani revealed his creative talents.

Holiday specialties, gifts, and decorations for the season were displayed in the Holiday Open House hosted by the Home Economics Department. Parents, teachers, and faculty from neighboring feeder schools were invited to attend the program which reflected the creative abilities of the Home Economics students.

Young men had the opportunity to enroll in Modern Family Living, the only co-educational home economics course offered at Southwest. The boys enjoyed the cooking portion of the program but gained important insights into their own personalities.

Mrs. Knapp, a new faculty member, contributed her homemaking abilities to the Home Economics department.

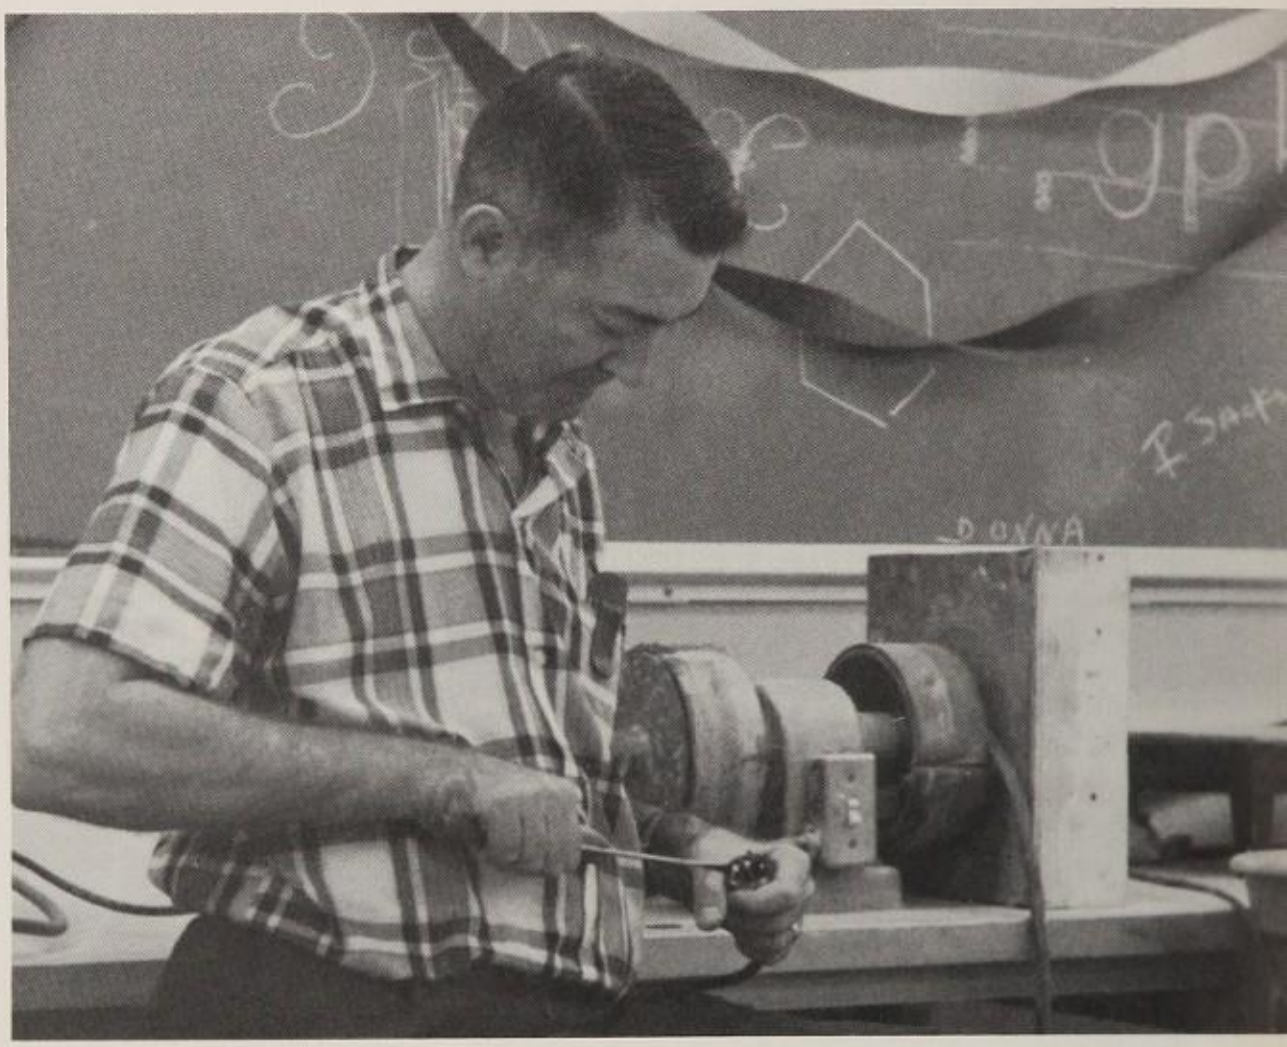
Ginny Shutt found weaving placemats a constructive hobby as well as a practical skill.

Art Emphasized an Awareness of Life

Art students welcomed a new art complex, housing two classrooms for independent or team teaching, and a resource library, giving art students easy access to numerous related books and slides.

Miss Margaret Violette, Department Head, stated that the department philosophy was based on awareness of life, nature and composition.

Lettering, color, and basic form were studied by first year students, while Art 3 and 4 practiced oil painting and the sketching of the human figure. The more advanced and independent Art 5 created independent projects, batiks, and figure drawing, incorporating the various mediums of charcoal, ink, and oil.



Mr. Crawford, instructor for Art I and II, also made minor repairs.

Creative expression often presented itself in unique and unusual forms to art students.

Miss Violette explained the techniques of ink drawing to her pupils.

My Fair Lady a Smashing Hit

Much class time was spent by David Corson reviewing his music.

Southwest's Royal Lancer Band performed at the Miami-Dolphin game, the Orange Bowl game and parade, and the Super Bowl game. The band also attended the Cherry Blossom Festival parade in Washington D.C. and toured the city.

Music for My Fair Lady, The Messiah, and Coral Gables High's Carousel was produced by the orchestra. They also went to Fort Myers early in the year for a concert and later, put on an opera, Amahl and The Night Visitors. They sponsored a contest for the best musical composition by a University of Miami student studying composition.

Concert Chorus sang The Messiah at Coral Park High. They also participated in the production of My Fair Lady and an Easter Sunrise Service in the Bayfront Park Bandshell.

Under the direction of Mr. Melvin Baker, Southwest's superb band was once again commended for its variety and showmanship during performances.

Chuck Getter and Betty Gavelek demonstrated the concentration needed to achieve unity and perfection in orchestra performances.

Various emotions were expressed by band members before a half-time show.

Wig Styling Was Emphasized

Jane Rodriguez watched intently as Mrs. Krizbacker styled a wig.

Due to the role hair pieces play in the life of modern woman, cosmetology placed emphasis on the care and styling of wigs. Menial tasks were played down, and more time was devoted to hair coloring.

Senior students were available three hours a week for appointments made by the women of the community. After successfully completing a two year program and a six week summer extension, Cosmetology students were able to obtain their state beautician licenses.

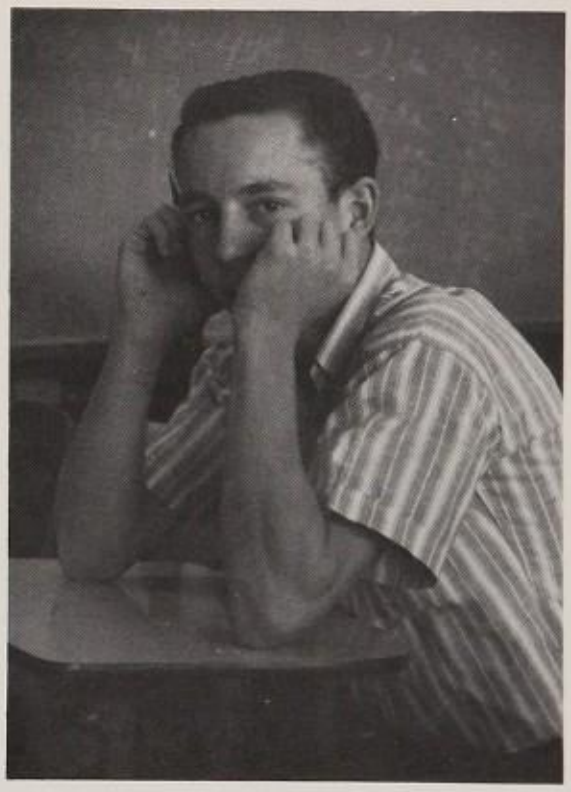
Sara Sistrunk rolled a fellow student's hair.

Local Firms Employed Business Students

Record keeping was an important part of the D.E. curriculum.

Distributive Education made it possible for seniors to attend classes in the morning and earn a salary during the afternoon by working part time. The Distributive Education students were employed by numerous firms in the area which were willing to train prospective employees.

D.E. students raised needed project money with their annual Christmas Ball sale which was a huge success once again.

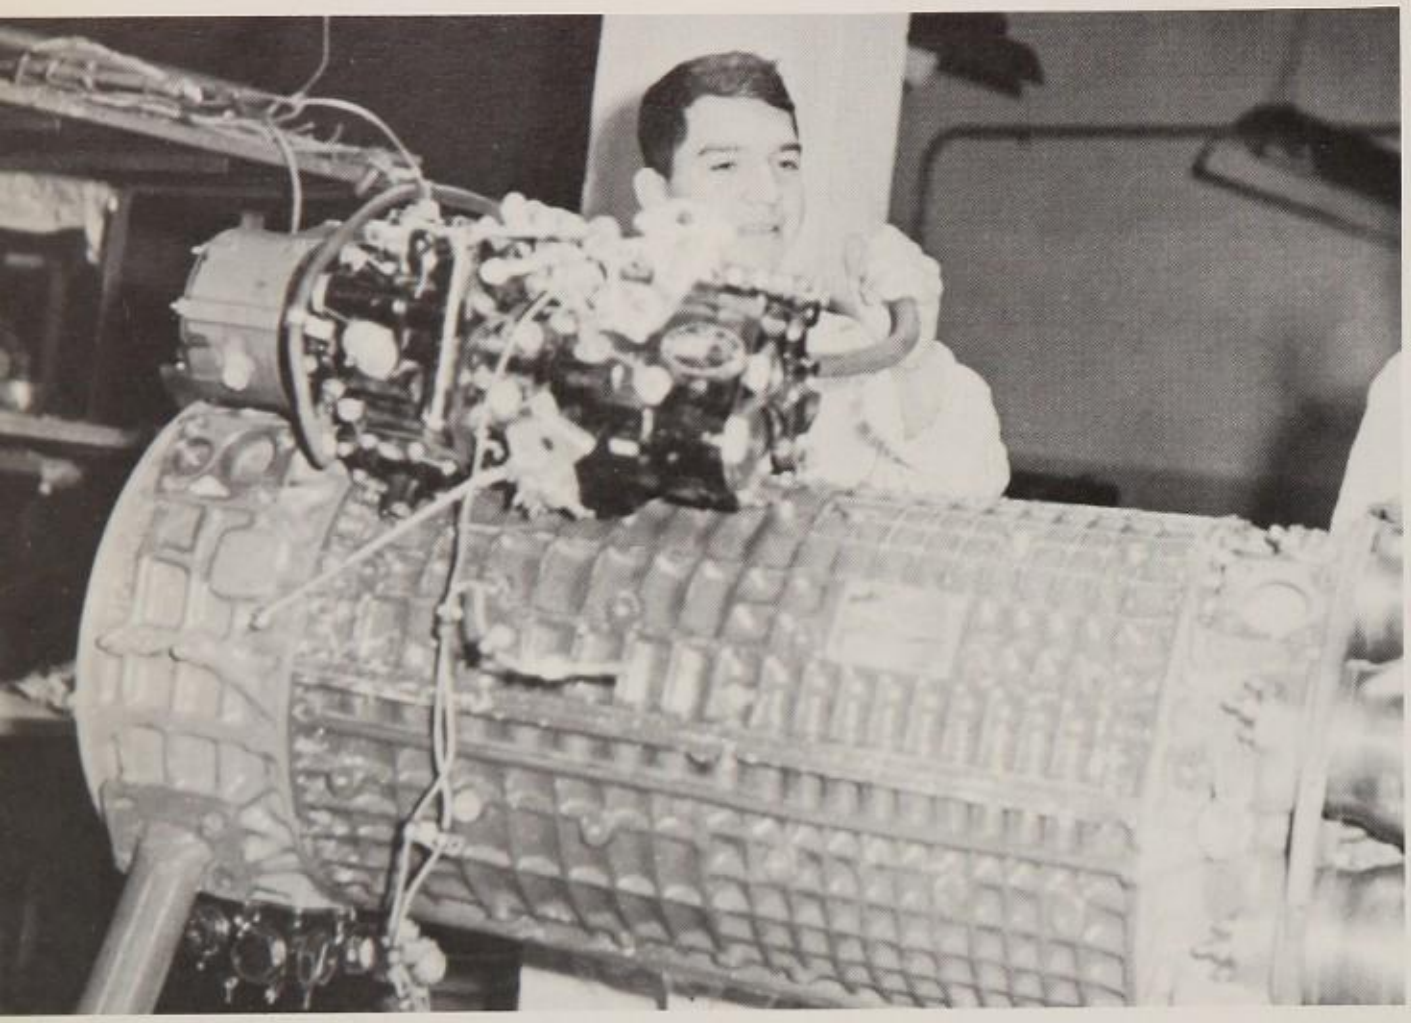


Rick Daughtrey looked suspicious of our photographer's intentions.

Mr. Debrei spent his planning periods working on future plans.

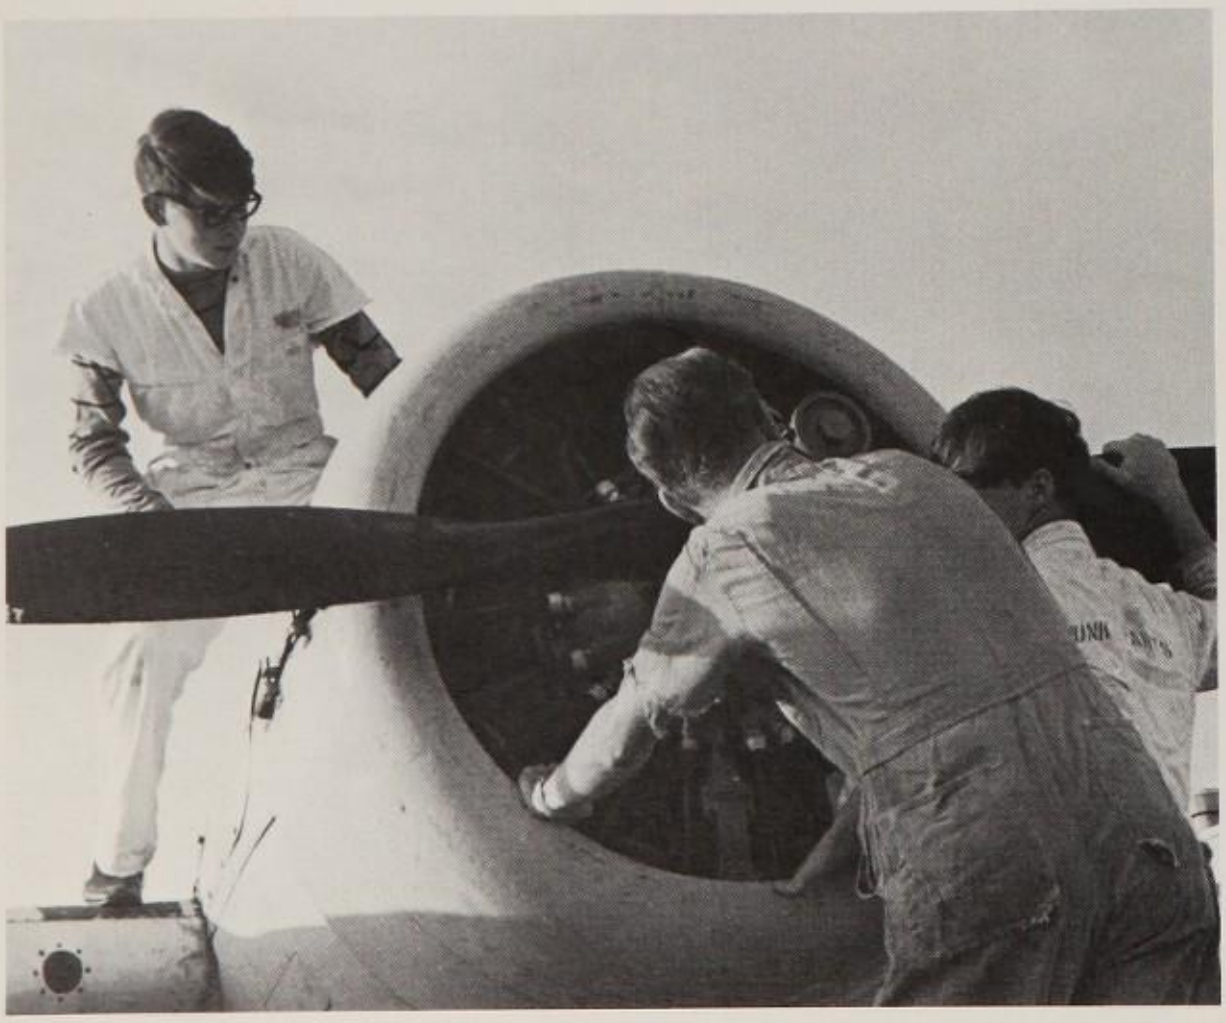
Aviation Offered Practical Experience

Lucia German exhibited the skill required for the repair of engines.



Graduates of the three year aviation program obtained licenses through the Federal Aviation Agency, and were able to obtain jobs as mechanics with local airlines. Students learned to repair all makes of airplanes from jets to propeller driven planes, and welding was offered again.

Aviation classes were held at the George T. Baker Aviation School where the boys studied sheet metal, air frames, power plants, welding, aviation maintenance, and wood fabric for half a day. The other half of the day was spent at Southwest completing the necessary courses for graduation. Aviation was exciting and interesting because of the practical experience gained.



On-the-job training was essential for aviation graduates to obtain their Federal Aviation licenses.

Learning to keep the landing gear functioning properly was also included in the curriculum.

Latest Equipment Aided Auto Mechanics

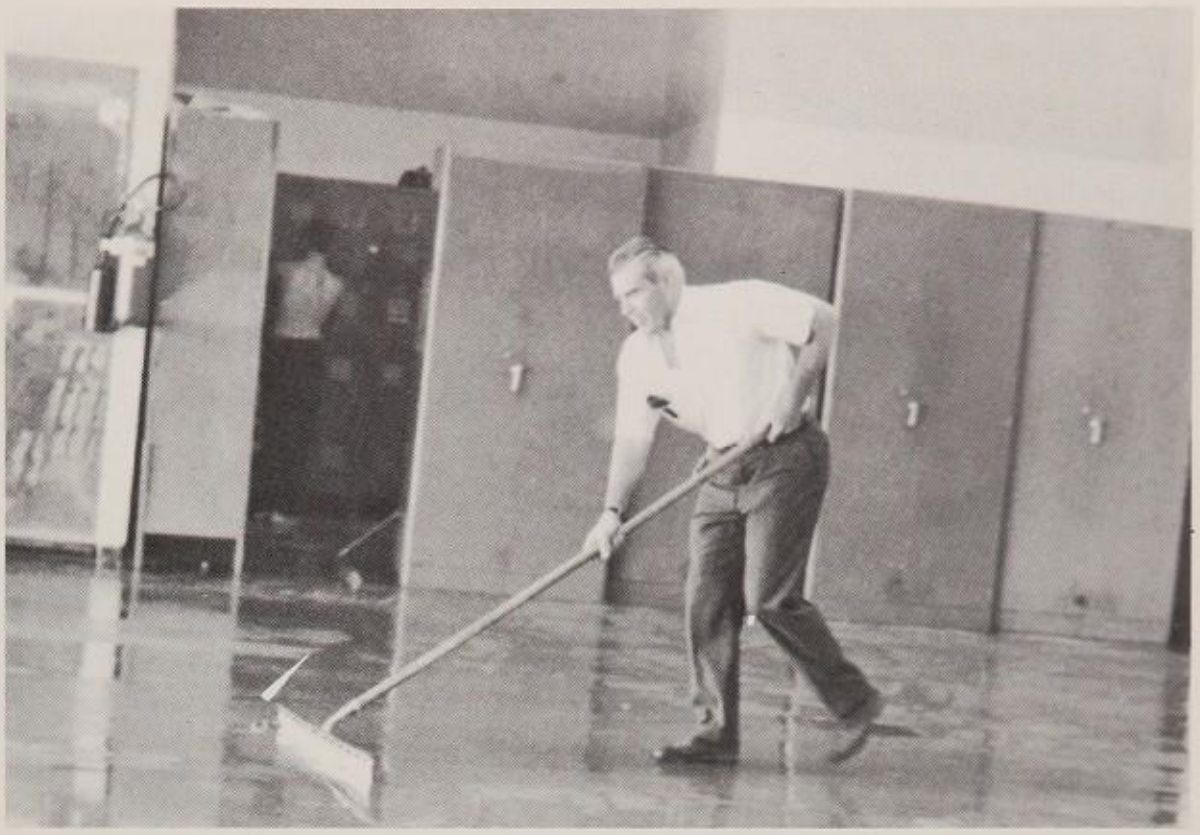
In today's world, the need for trained mechanics has become an essential one.

Diversified Mechanics and Automotive Mechanics offered industrious students an excellent opportunity to develop a highly skilled trade for a job after leaving school.

The automotive mechanics class was equipped with the latest equipment. Teaching a top scholastic class in the three hour block were Mr. John Sojat and Mr. Floyd Holcomb. The students worked on cars brought in by students, teachers, and parents.

Students of Diversified Mechanics learned their trade by repairing items that range from typewriters to bicycles. The typewriters that came from the public were repaired at a nominal fee.

Mr. Holcomb's activities were not always academic.



Some students spent more time under a car than in it.

Bob Roberts, Ron Boyd, and Tommy Ellis took their training seriously?

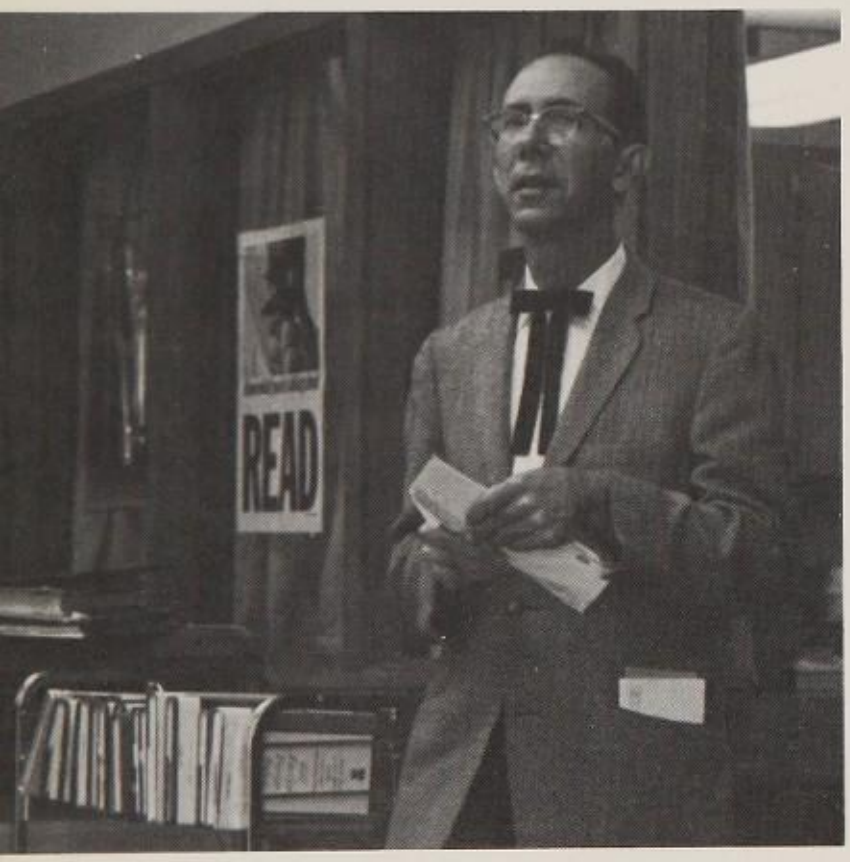
Library Provided Wealth of Information

Mrs. Bitter devoted much time in the library to paperwork.

In coping with the knowledge explosion, more than 1,000 new books were purchased for the library, including vocational and technical information, art, and contemporary literature.

Under the supervision of Head Librarian John L. Price, a 7:15 A.M. to 9:30 P.M. schedule was devised, giving students access to audio visual materials and reference sources.

Library Science I and II offered students an opportunity to learn library routines and procedures by assisting librarians.



Taking inventory of an ever expanding library was the duty of Mr. Price, the head librarian.

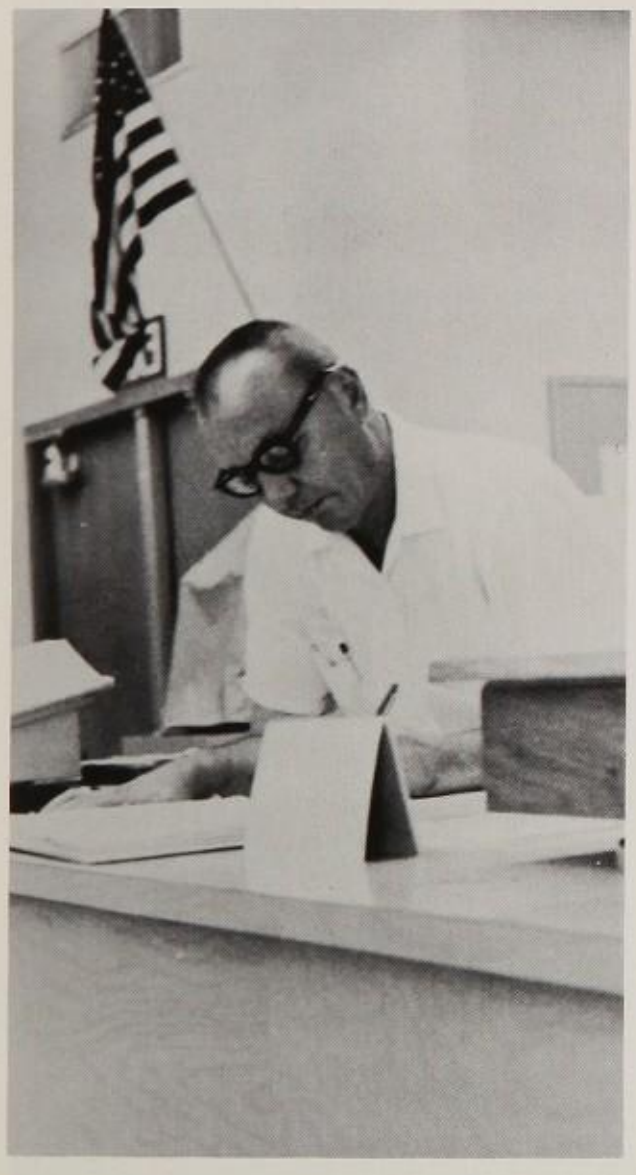
Mrs. Brown's assistance was frequently sought to aid students in obtaining materials necessary for research.

Audio-Visual Opened New Fields of Research

New fields of research were opened by the micro-film reader.

Both faculty and students benefited from newly purchased audio-visual equipment. Included in the equipment were: an Electrostatic Photo Copy machine, an abridged Readers Guide, and a Rear Screen Film Loop Projector. A reader printer machine was also purchased for the micro-film program which acquired many formerly unavailable magazines and periodicals.

Knowledge that absent students would be able to see films missed without inconvenience was a joy to teachers.



The distribution of audio-visual equipment and supplies was directed by Mr. Joseph Kantor.

Rosa McClain found the new copier machine to be a beneficial aid in the researching of her various term papers.

Senators Provided Harmony in S.W.

1967-68 Senators were primarily concerned with increasing communication between students and representatives to provide more harmony in Southwest. Thirty students, ten from each class, attended all the Student Council meetings, served on committees, made recommendations to the General Assembly, and carried the news back to the students.

Senators were kept busy with the packing of Christmas baskets for needy families, plans for Homecoming, and devising ways to increase school spirit. They helped organizations in financial trouble and provided more activities for students at a lower price to increase participation in school activities.

Steve Pavsner presided over all meetings.

"We're Cool . . . Great We're the Class of '68

Paul Faulkner, Senior President, led the class of 1968 through the final months of high school. With the help of Pam Ibanez, vice president, Joanne Desnoyers, secretary, and Dottie Hamblin, treasurer, activities found much support. The seniors found most of their months filled with special activities. Sr. '68 pins were sold, soc hops held, superlatives elected, and Homecoming Day found Seniors selling giant purple and white chrysanthemums at Central Stadium. After semester break, the Senior Banquet was held at Miami Springs Villas with entertainment provided by the Showmen and comedian Bob Sweeney. Advisors Chris Shead, Paula Blain, Cindi Mishler, and Bruce Murray helped with huge posters advertising events such as the Senior Picnic at Greynolds Park at the end of the year. Graduation ceremonies were held, as before, in Dade County Auditorium before proud and relieved parents, relatives, and friends.

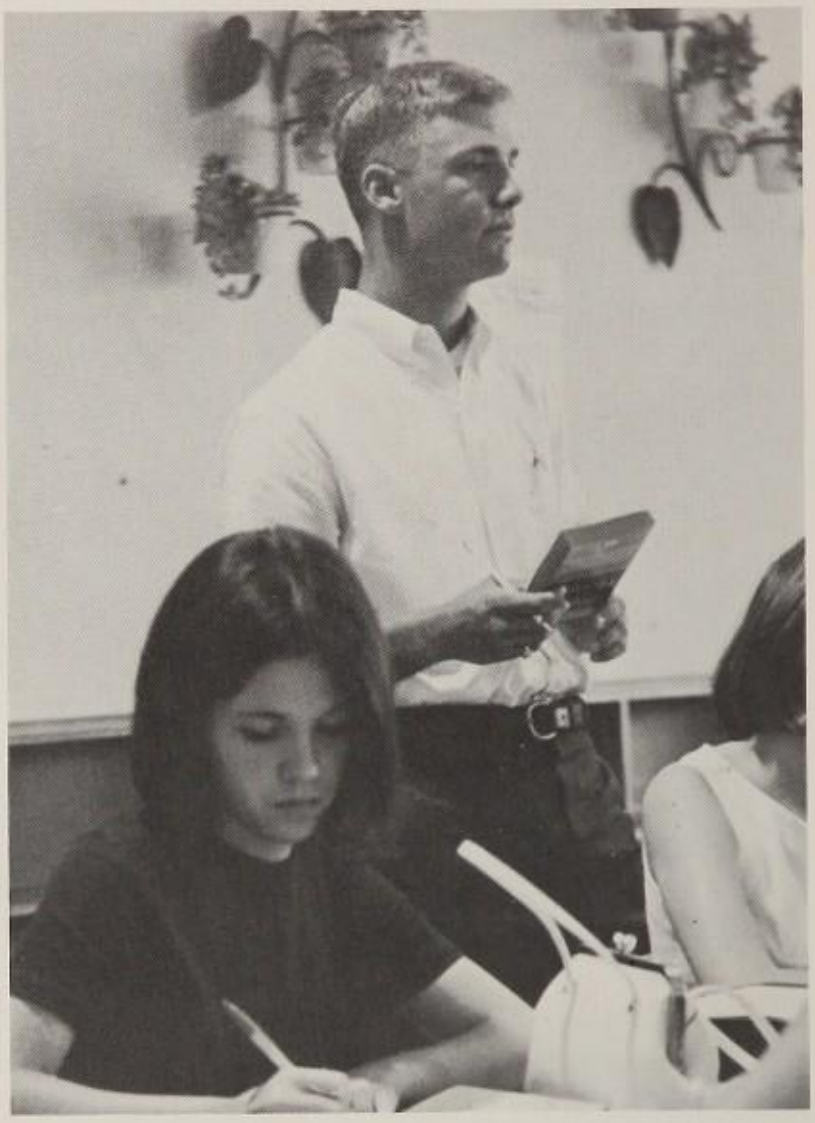
Senior Board—Voice of 1968

Thirty-five Senior board members, one representative from each homeroom, guided by Paul Faulkner, Senior President, sponsored many worthwhile projects. In order to provide direct contact with each senior, each member sold "68" senior pins and graduation announcements. A committee headed by Jim Bernier, constructed the float that won first place in the Homecoming parade. In promoting class activities, each representative offered recommendations for the class motto and colors, to be used at the Senior banquet and the prom.



"What's new?" ponders President Paul Faulkner as he opens a senior board meeting. Joanne Desnoyers senior secretary also wonders.

Junior Officers Led Class to New Heights

Treasurer . . . Pauline Stewart

The prime project of the Junior Class of '68 was the financing and presentation of the 1968 Junior-Senior Prom. The prom committee, consisting of members of the Junior Board and interested members of the Junior Class devoted long hours to prom decorations and entertainment. In accordance with tradition, the Junior Class sponsored their annual magazine sale. Led by president Alam Balsam, vice-president Paul Erwin, secretary Brenda Williamson, and treasurer Pauline Stewart, the drive surpassed all previous first day sales.

Juniors ended the year with hopes of a Senior year filled with greater achievements.

Juniors Are Destined for Success

Junior Board members, chosen for their leadership qualities, helped govern the Junior Class. Each member helped coordinate Junior Class projects and had the responsibility of informing fellow classmates of school activities.

The primary object of the Junior Board was to select committees to plan the details of the 1968 Junior-Senior Prom, making it the best ever.

Sophomore Officers Promoted School Spirit

Many Sophomore students participated in campaigning for the positions of class officers and Senators. Elected to the office of President was John Johnson, Helen Shaw was Vice President, Brenda Goldberg was Secretary, and Steve Koraly was Treasurer.

Doughnut sales, car washes, swap meets, bake sales, and concession stands at school activities were the money-making projects. They also sponsored a semi-formal Sophomore dance at the end of the year. Sophomores also served at the Junior Senior Prom.

Southwest Nominated Silver Knights

Students with high ability in various subjects throughout high school were eligible to represent Southwest as Silver Knight nominees. Interested students applied for Silver Knights, and were then chosen by the faculty, who completed the difficult task by studying the applicant's scholastic, extracurricular, and civic records. The nominees were also selected on the basis of their all-around excellence, which included their character and leadership qualities.

The County-Wide Silver Knights were chosen after an interview, and competition against nominees from other schools. The judges consisted of outstanding authorities selected by the Miami Herald. The final winners were announced at Dade County Auditorium in May.

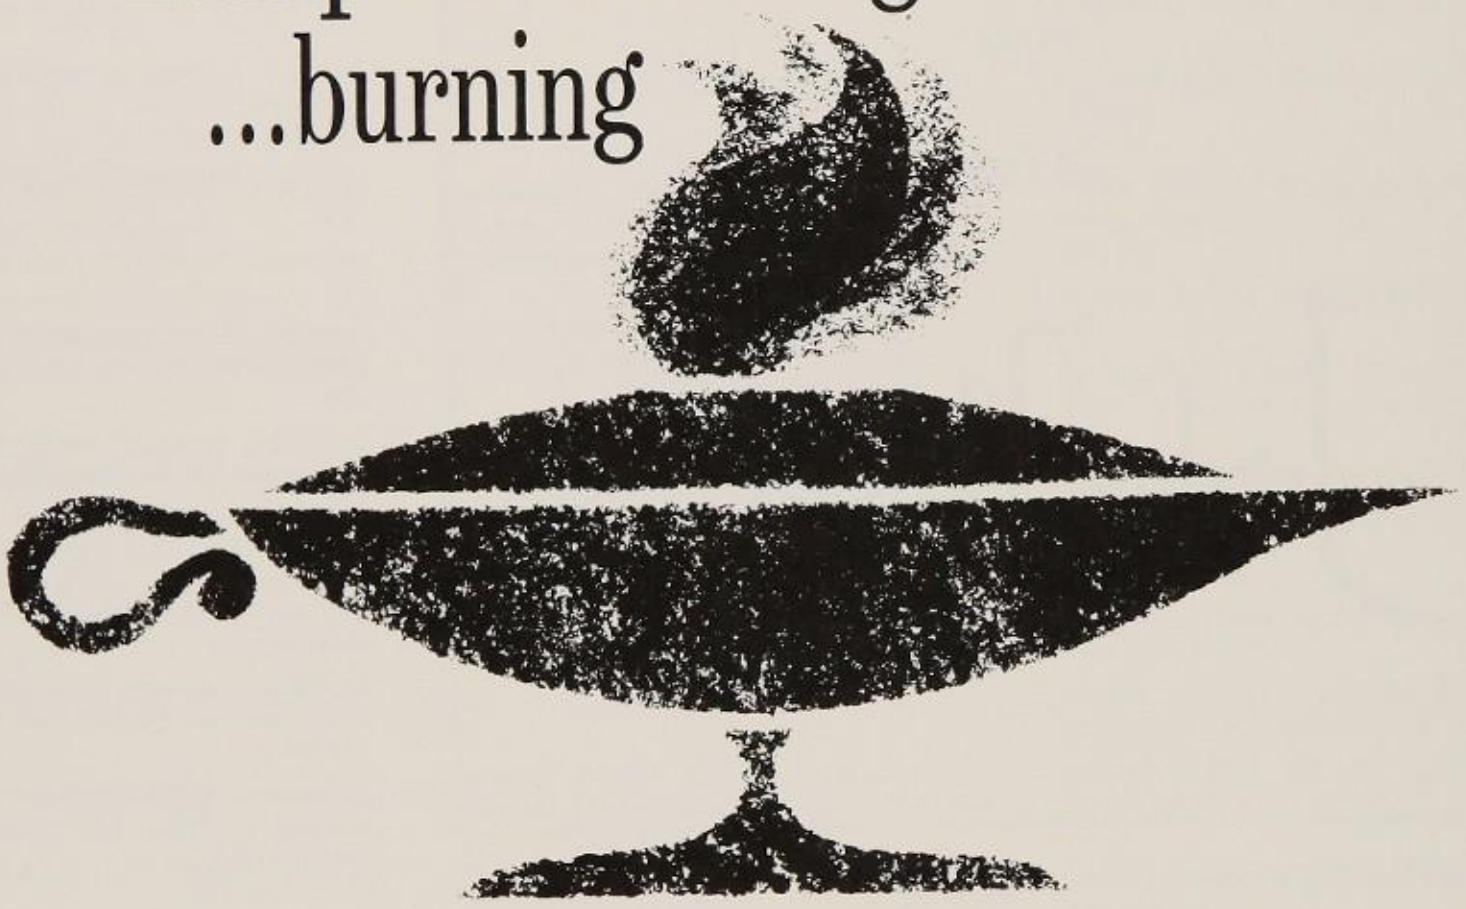
Keep your Lamp of Learning ...burning



In every field of endeavor, the quest for knowledge is a life-long process.

A solid educational background is increasingly important in our fast-paced world of science, exploration and invention. It is the key to greater earning capability and a more fruitful life.

Whether your steps will lead to the halls of higher learning, or to off-campus education opportunities that Florida offers in ample measure . . . resolve to keep your lamp of learning . . . burning.

We salute the Class of '68. Good luck . . . best wishes . . . and more power to you.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
OFFICE OF EDUCATION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20202

I am delighted to extend congratulations and best wishes to the 1968 graduating class of Southwest Miami High School.

A high school diploma is one of the most valuable documents you will ever earn. It can be a passport to advanced formal education or a key to immediate employment in many career fields. It is a symbol of what you have mastered in many subjects over a period of years. However, I hope you will also regard it as one milestone, among many, in an educational journey that never ends.

An open mind and an innate curiosity about the world we live in can make learning an exciting pursuit that lasts a lifetime. Our school years mainly teach us how to learn. Ahead is a learning opportunity as vast, as compelling, and as rewarding as you choose to make it.

My warmest regards to each of you.

Harold Howe II
U.S. Commissioner of Education

America is:

Small boys playing soldier in Brooklyn
And big boys shooting dice in Viet Nam.

An ice cream cone on a hot afternoon
And K-rations before ground maneuvers.

A warring peace
And a "peaceful" war.

A new life every 22 seconds,
A death after each bombing mission.

A senior prom
And a USO show.

A graduation ceremony
And a military funeral service.

A theme for English IV
And a letter from home.

Peace talks, marches, rallies
And bullets, bombs, and shrapnel.

A new cap gun for Johnnie
And M-16's for Company C.

Brand new automobiles
And tanks and bombers.

Weddings and christenings
And young widows and orphans.

Regret for the past
And hope for the future.

America is the confidence to look at other philosophies and come out knowing America is still best. America is traditions and the breakage of tradition. America is fighting for the right to fight or not to fight. America is the belief that all men are equal. America is believing that somewhere there is a justification for Viet Nam and being able to find out where. America is having someone care enough to fight and die for America. America is . . .
